This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THE plan adopted in this work is mainly that of Rev. E. F. Slafter, in the Slafter Memorial.

A series of consecutive numbers runs through the volume. Where a name appears a second time, as it always will appear when it stands at the head of a family, the place where it is given is designated by a number in brackets, placed immediately after the name.

To trace a line of descent, seek in the Index the name you wish to trace; against it will stand a number. Turn to this number in the body of the work, where you will find the name, and above it the names of the parents; at the right of the name of the father will be a number in brackets, to which, if you turn, you will find the name, and above it the names of the grandparents; and so continue until the line is traced.

The numbers in the Indexes always refer to the first appearance of the name; and on turning to that number in the volume, it will be seen at a glance where it appears a second time.

It was my original plan to trace the descendants of Edward Spalding in both the male and female lines. But it soon became apparent that it would require another volume as large as the present one to do this satisfactorily. The increased expense of preparing and publishing this additional volume compelled me to confine my labors principally to the genealogy of the male lines. The marriages of all female descendants of Edward Spalding bearing the family name have been given, also their dates of birth and death, so far as they could be ascertained.

As to the spelling of the name, I have followed the best authority. Spalding is the uniform mode in Great Britain and on the Continent, and generally prevails in this country. Some prefer the other forms; against these there is no law, for both surnames and Christian names are now frequently altered at the will and taste of those to whom they belong. There is no standard authority in the spelling of proper names.

Mistakes will undoubtedly be found in the volume. But they exist, not for want of painstaking efforts to avoid them, but generally from imperfect manuscripts and contradictory statements sent by members of the same family. Many persons would be surprised to see the errors in their own letters, which are frequently the result, not of ignorance, but of carelessness. What is worth recording at all, is worth recording carefully and correctly. I should esteem it a favor, when mistakes are discovered, to have the corrections sent to me.

The Historic, Genealogical Society is now, in an important sense, the foster-mother of almost every New-England genealogy. I acknowledge my indebtedness to its library, and especially to the hearty and prompt assistance given me by so many of its members.

I am under obligations to those who have sent me information, and take this opportunity to express to them all my sincere thanks.

For special information I am indebted to Hon. R. P. Spalding, of Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. Edward Spalding and E. H. Spalding, Esq., of Nashua, N.H.; Miss Elizabeth P. Spalding, of Portsmouth, N.H.; E.H. Somerby, Esq., London, Eng.; Mrs. C. F. Russell, of Towanda, Penn.; Seth Savage, Esq., of Lancaster, N. H.; Mrs. Susan Ball, of Townsend, Mass.; George Spalding, Esq., of East Woodstock, Ct.; Mrs. Elizabeth Winslow, of Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. M. A. S. Palmer, Cambridgeport, Mass.; L. A. Spalding, Esq., Lockport, N. Y.; William A. Spalding, Esq., of Ludlow, Vt.

I must also add my obligations to Messrs. Alfred Mudge & Son, and to those gentlemen in their employ, whose ready co operation and suggestions have frequently aided me.

The work has been one of great labor and expense, and is yet but partially accomplished. I would suggest the desirableness of making a Spalding fund of three or four thousand dollars, to be put into the hands of trustees, the interest of which should be expended in the prosecution of investigations and the publication of matters relating to the Spalding family. With this aid, a volume could be issued once in twelve or fifteen years at a price which would bring it within the reach of all who might desire it. It is a matter of regret, in the publication of this work, that, with all the generous contributions of friends, its cost is so great that it will practically fail to reach many who might desire to see it.

With the assistance of such a fund as has been indicated, much information could be gathered, which is inaccessible for want of means to pay for copies of documents and registers.

It would also encourage the making and the preserving of records in the different branches of the family. The mere asking of questions, with the possibility that a family book might be published, has in many instances awakened interest and stimulated investigation. Much more would certainly be done, if it were known that the means for the publication of a volume were already in hand. The family is a very large one, and the representatives of it are found in all professions and in all departments of business and of industry. There can be no doubt, therefore, that the fresh materials for such a volume would be most abundant.

The certain recurrence of such a record would be a moral stimulus to all belonging to the family to carry the name forward untarnished.

My correspondence has brought to me many pleasant acquaintances whom it has never been my privilege to see. Their kindness and encouragement are among the cherished memories of the present life, and I trust our mutual sympathy in this work will form the basis of a higher and nobler friendship in the future.

S. J. SPALDING.

INTRODUCTION.

THE name Spalding appears quite early in English history. Of its derivation we have no certain knowledge. Some conjecture that it arose in connection with the town of Spalding, in Lincolnshire, England, which is said to have derived its name from a Spä or spring of chalybeate water in the market-place. Spä, as a general name for a spring of mineral water, arose, unquestionably, from a place of this name in Germany. E. W. Spalding, of St. Louis, Missouri, suggests the following: "The French épaule, Spanish espalda, English spall, all meaning shoulder, seem to have some significance, as the whole race, so far as I know, are physically very powerful. The last syllable has a meaning, also: ding, to strike; Spal-ding, shoulder-striker. In the Middle Ages, when battles were fought hand to hand, our name originated. The two-handed sword in one coat-of-arms strengthens the argument."

The name Spalding as a patronymic is on the Continent as well as in Great Britain.

Johann Joachim Spalding, a celebrated divine, and one of the best pulpit orators of Germany, was born Nov. 1, 1714, at Triebsees, in Swedish Pomerania, and died March 2, 1804, at the age of ninety years. He studied at the university of Rostock, and afterwards at Griefswald; and after various engagements as pastor, settled, in 1764, at Berlin, as first pastor of St. Nicholas Church, which post he filled until 1788. The publication of the Religious-Edict compelled him to retire. His sermons were esteemed very highly for their depth both of thought and feeling, and their pure and elegant style, and several collections of them have been published.

George Ludwig Spalding, the philologist, was the second son of the preceding, and was born at Barth, in 1762. He studied first at a Berlin gymnasium, then directed by Büsching, and afterwards at Göttingen and Halle. After travelling through the principal countries of Europe, he became tutor to the children of Prince Ferdinand, and professor at a gymnasium of Berlin. He was M. A., Halle, and a member of the Berlin Academy of Sciences. In consequence of the Religious-Edict, he abandoned theology, and devoted the rest of his life to philology. He is chiefly remembered for his excellent edition of the works of Quintilian in five volumes. After spending nineteen years on it, during which time he published only three volumes, he died in 1811, and left his task to be completed by other hands.

The name, so far as we have any knowledge, first appeared in connection with the town in Lincolnshire, England This existed before Crowland; for in Ethelbald's foundation charter of that place, part of the bounds of the monastery there are said to extend "usque ædificid Spaldeling." Ethelbald began to reign 716 A.D., and was killed 757 A.D.

But whether the name was introduced by the Anglo-Saxons, or was brought over by a colony of Flemish people, or originated in that county, it is impossible to determine.

In the Topographical Dictionary of England, by Samuel Lewis, vol. 4, pp. 138 and 139, published in 1831, we have the following sketch of the old Saxon town, Spalding: —

SPALDING, a market town and parish in the wapentake of Elloe, parts of Holland, county of Lincoln, 44 miles (S. E. by S.) from Lincoln, and 100 (N.) from London, Lat. 52°-51′, Long. 0°-02′ W., containing, according to the last census, 5,207 inhabitants, now supposed to amount to upwards of 6,000. This place is said to have derived its name from a Spä or spring of chalybeate water, in the market-place; it is of considerable antiquity, being mentioned at an early period of the Saxon annals as one of the points on the boundary line of the estate belonging to Crowland Abbey, to which a subordinate cell for a prior and five monks was founded here in 1051, by Thorold de Buckenhale; but at the conquest, on the presentation of this manor to Ivo Talbois, Earl of Angiers, a nephew of the Conqueror, who built a castle here, the society was so harassed by their new neighbor as to be compelled to abandon their cell, which, falling into his hands, was given, in 1074, with the church of St. Mary and the manor, to the abbey of St. Nicholas at Angiers, whereupon some Benedictine monks were sent over, and it became an alien priory to that monastery, being dedicated to St. Mary and St. Nicholas; it did not share the fate of the other alien houses, but was raised to the dignity of an abbey, and so continued until the general suppression, when its revenue was valued at £878 18*s.* 3*d.* The town is situated on the river Welland, in a fenny district, but remarkably well drained; the streets are clean and well paved, the houses of neat appearance, and the inhabitants are well supplied with water. An Antiquarian Society was established here, many years ago, by Mr. Maurice Johnson, a native of the town, of which Sir Isaac Newton, Sir Hans Sloane, Dr. Stukeley, and several other distinguished persons, were members; many of the valuable books are still preserved, some in the vestry-room of the church, and others in the grammar school, as are also some manuscripts, relics of antiquity, and natural curiosities; the room is now used for a permanent subscription library. A literary club has also been recently established. The theatre, a small and neat edifice, is open about three weeks in the year; assemblies are occasionally held in commodious rooms in the town hall. The land in the vicinity is extensively appropriated to grazing; and the fenny tracts have been drained by means of steam engines.

Wool forms a principal article of trade, and some of the manufacturing towns of Yorkshire are supplied from this neighborhood. Since the river Welland was made navigable to Crowland and Stamford, Spalding has acquired a considerable traffic in corn and coal; sloops from fifty to seventy tons burden come up to the centre of the town, and by these a regular coasting trade is maintained with London, Hull, Lynn, and other places; there is a quay for landing goods, with spacious storehouses for their reception. The port is a member of the port of Boston. The market on Tuesday is the largest in the county for cattle. Fairs are held April 27th, June 20th, August 28th, September 25th and December 6th, chiefly for live stock. Spalding has been the principal seat of jurisdiction for the parts of Holland for many centuries. In the Saxon times the courts of law were held by the earls, and, subsequently to the Conquest, the priors were invested with judicial authority, and they possessed the power of life and death. At present, the quarter sessions for these parts are held here, and petty sessions for the wapentake every week. Courts of Servers and of requests for the recovery of debts not exceeding £5, for the hundred of Elloe; and also courts leet and baron, at which the Steward presides, are held. The town hall, situated at the northwest end of the market-place, was erected at the expense of Mr. John Hobson; the lower part is let for shops, and the rental given to the poor, according to the will of the donor. A new House of Correction for the parts of Holland was built in 1824; it is an airy and commodious edifice, under very good regulations.

The living is a perpetual curacy, in the archdeaconry and diocese of Lincoln, and in the patronage of certain Trustees, who are seized of the rectory, which is of considerable annual value, in trust for the incumbent. The church, which is dedicated to St. Mary and St. Nicholas, is principally in the later style of English architecture, with a fine tower and crocketed spire; it was erected in 1284, instead of the conventual church then pulled down, and considerable additions were made in 1466, amongst which was a very beautiful north porch. There are places of worship for Baptists, the Society of Friends, Independents, and Wesleyan Methodists. A free grammar school was erected in the reign of Elizabeth, and endowed, by the will of John Blanch, with eighty-nine acres of land, for the support of a master to instruct the children of householders born in the parish; the original endowment has been considerably augmented by Mr. Atkinson; the trustees are incorporated, and have a common seal.

Another, called the Petit school, was founded in 1682, by Thomas Willesley, and endowed with nearly sixty acres of land. The Bluecoat school, founded by one of the Gamlyn family, is supported by a small endowment of land, aided by voluntary contributions. An almshouse for the reception of twenty-two poor persons, was founded and endowed, in 1590, by Sir Matthew Gamlyn; and another for eight poor widows, in 1709, by Mrs. Elizabeth Sparke. There are also considerable estates vested in trustees, called "Town Husbands," for the benefit of the poor. A portion of the abbey buildings yet remains, which is partly in ruins. Many relics of antiquity have at different periods been discovered in the neighborhood, and others taken out of the river Welland.

There are many traces, existing in the neighborhood of Spalding, of the stupendous works executed by the Romans, in the various embankments for keeping out the sea, which still remain as monuments of their industry and power. In the time of the Saxons, it flourished under the Mercian princes, and its particular lords and patrons were their kinsmen, some of whom were deputy-governors under the king, and had their residence in Spalding.

There is a SPALDINGTON, a township in the parish of Bubwith, Holme-Beacon division of the wapentake of Harthill, East riding of the county of York, 4½ miles (N. by E.) from Howden, containing 361 inhabitants.

There is also a Spaldwick, a parish in the hundred of Leightenstone, county of Huntingdon, 3¾ miles (N. E. by N.) from Kimbolton, containing 332 inhabitants.

There is also a hamlet called Spalford, in the parish of North Clifton, northern division of the wapentake of Newark, county of Nottingham, 7 miles (E. by S.) from Tuxford, containing 86 inhabitants.

The following citations will show that the name Spalding, as a patronymic, has existed in Great Britain from very early periods.

"Henry de Walpol sold lands by deed, sans date, to John de Spalding (Burgess of Lenn) in Tyrington and sealed as by his deed appears with a Fess between two Chevrons. About 51 Henry III." (A. D. 1267). [Collins' Peerage, vol. 5, p. 32.]

West Hall Manor, Denver, Norfolk. "In 9th of Edward II. (A. D. 1316), Peter de Spalding was lord and presented to the Mediety of St. Michael's of Denver, as lord of this manor.

"John, son of said Peter, was lord in the 13th of Edward III. (A. D. 1340) and had 30 messuages in this town, with 500 acres of land, 30 of meadow, and in Hilgey, Downham, Fordham, &c." [Blomfield's Hist. of the County of Norfolk, England, vol. 7, p. 316.]

"Berwick Castle, Sir Pierce Spalding delivered it up to Thomas Randall, Earl of Murray, April 2, 1318, in consideration of lands given him in Angus, in Scotland. It remained in possession of the Scots until 1333."

[Wallis' Northcumberland, England, vol. 2, p. 435.]

In Leland, I. 547, it is expressly said, "James Douglas, by the help of Patrike, Counte of Marche and Peter Spalding of Berwike, got Berwike out of the Engllishmennes' handes."

"Accidit ex tempore, ad malorum cumulum, quod quidam perfidus, dictus 'Petrus de Spaldyng' cui custodia villæ de Berewico commissa, fuerat, Scotis venderet dictam villam, et intrare permitteret; quod factum Regem graviter contristavit."

March 28, 1318. [Historia Anglicana, Thomæ Walsingham, vol. 1, p. 155.]

In Haile's Annals of Scotland, vol. II. p. 97, the following account is given: —

"One Spalding, a citizen of Berwick, having been harshly treated by the governor (probably Robert Horsely), resolved to revenge himself. He wrote to a Scottish lord (probably Patrick, Earl of March) whose relation he had married, and offered, on a certain night, to betray the post where he kept guard. The Scottish lord durst not of himself engage in an enterprise so perilous and important; he therefore communicated this intelligence to the king.

"Troops were assembled under Randolph and Douglas, cautiously marched to Berwick, and, assisted by Spalding, scaled the walls, and in a few hours were masters of the town."

Howard's Manor, Tyrington, Norfolk Co., England. "In the 20th of Edward III. (A.D. 1347), John Avenell and Joan his wife, held the fourth part of a fee, which Peter, son of John Spalding, formerly held; and the said John and Joan, with Robert de Canston and the heirs of Ida, late wife of William Bataile, held the third part of a fee of the Lord Bardolf; and at the same time John de Tilney and his parceners held the twelfth part of a fee of the said lord, which John de Fitton formerly held. Peter Spalding sold his part or manor (having infranchised several villains), to Sir John Howard, the elder."
[Blomfield's Hist. of the County of Norfolk, England, vol. 9, p. 87.]

There was a William Spaldewic, incumbent of Eltisley, Cambridgeshire, presented Nov. 10, 1394, resigned 1399.

In Blomfield's History of the County of Norfolk, Town of Brockdish, there is a description of the church. "In 1518 Henry Bakenham, of Brockdish, was buried in the church, as were many of the Spaldings, Withes, Howards, Grices, Tendrings, and Lawrences, who were all considerable owners and families of distinction in this town."

In a note on the above, there is the following: —

"Spalding, per fess azure and or, a pale counterchanged, and three square buckles of the second.

"This family was originally of Spalding, in Lincolnshire. In the house belonging to the family, I saw a picture of Samuel Spalding, town-clerk of Cambridge, in his alderman's gown with a book in his hand, Anno 1664, æt. 74. Another of his wife, Anno 1664, æt. 63; her arms, argent an eagle displayed gules. Another of Frances their daughter, in her winding sheet; this child being young, went into a garret in a remote part of the house, and the door shutting upon it, she was there starved to death, notwithstanding strict inquiry had been made after it; this Samuel was father of Samuel, father of Daniel Spalding, Gent. deceased." [Vol. 5, p. 330.]

In Rymer's Fœdera, vol. 14, p. 510, Dominus Thomas Spalding is mentioned as Prior.

In Gough's British Topography, vol. 1, p. 208, Cambridgeshire, is the following: —

"Samuel Spalding, town-clerk of Cambridge 1610, a good antiquary, being a fair writer and laborious collector, transcribed several folio books of records relating to this town, which were in the hands of Mr. Blomfield."

In Gough's British Topography — Aberdeenshire is the following: —

"In the same library [referring to that of King's College] is a copy in about 1000 folio pages of Spalding's History of Scotland. It begins 1624 and ends 1645. The author was commissary-clerk of Aberdeen, and has taken pains to commit to writing, as he has received them, such accounts of the public transactions as he could obtain in that remote corner. They are greatly misrepresented; but the greater and more valuable part of the book relates to the particular occurrences in Aberdeenshire and the neighboring counties, which represent in a strong light the fermentations that prevailed in the minds of their ancestors, and the barbarity of their manners. Spalding is a royalist, but speaks with great candor of the opposite party, and with particular respect of some covenanting ministers, whom he extols as good preachers; but of Mr. Andrew Cant. and the Presbyterian clergy in general, he loves to tell every prejudice that he can. The style is vulgar, but has merit. The account of Montrose's expeditions, and of the family of Huntley, might furnish matter for national history. The original is in the hands of Lord Forbes. Sir James Reid of Barra had another copy." [Vol. 2, p. 645.]

We have given these descriptions merely to illustrate the literature of the name. How Edward Spalding, of Massachusetts, was connected with either family in Great Britain entitled to bear these heraldic devices, we do not know. Further investigations it is hoped may throw more light on this point.

These notes show that the name Spalding was very early introduced and extensively used in England and in Scotland But whether the families were descended from one common ancestor, it is impossible to decide. The spelling of the name is quite uniformly the same — SPALDING; and the given names, with the exception of one or two in the Maryland branch, like Benedict, are common to all the families, both in this country and in Great Britain. It is also to be noted that in the coats-of-arms the prevailing colors are the same, which would indicate a common origin. The introduction of u into the name, as Spaulding, is an Americanism, and first appears in the wills of some of the children of the emigrant ancestor. As Edward Spalding was among the settlers of Braintree, it might be inferred that he came over in their company. But as to the family with which he was connected, or the county in England from which he came, nothing definite is known. The general tradition is that he came from Lincolnshire.

You say, in one of your letters to my brother, that you particularly desire to know the reasons why I put the emigration of the ancestor of the Spaldings as early as 1630 to 1633. I find on reference to my manuscript, that I say "Edward Spalding came to America in the earliest years of the Massachusetts Colony, probably between 1630 and 1633." He was certainly settled in Braintree in 1640, in which year he became freeman of the colony, and in which he lost his first wife, Margaret. I tried unsuccessfully to find any satisfactory record of the names of emigrants with the vessels in which they came, and the exact dates of their arrival at this early period; but it is admitted, I understand, that the great bulk of the original Massachusetts colonization came within the few first years, especially from 1630 to 1633, so that for a colonist fully established in 1640 with a wife and three children, the probability is in favor of his having arrived by 1633. I am fully aware, however, that it is nothing more than a probability. Most of the subsequent details relating to Edward Spalding and his immediate family, I obtained from the Town Records of Chelmsford. I think I found something in regard to him, previous to 1654, in the early Boston Records in the city clerk's office; and I remember making a visit to Braintree on his account, which I think was altogether fruitless, owing either to the incompleteness or inaccessibility of the Braintree Records. But it is now six years since I was employed in this way, and I do not recollect all the particulars. I was much guided and benefited by some hints and advice from Mr. James Savage of Boston, author of the "Massachusetts (or New England) Genealogy," in regard to the means of tracing connections and identifying persons, in the use of old or incomplete town records.

Yrs. Very Respectfully,

J. C. DALTON.

The Spaldings in America, with the exception of a few that have recently emigrated to this country, are all descendants from three ancient families. One settled in Massachusetts, another in Maryland, and the third in Georgia.

The Spaldings of Georgia are descendants from the Ashantilly Spaldings, county of Perth, Scotland, and they from Sir Pierce Spalding, who surrendered Berwick Castle to the Earl of Murray in 1318.

Charles Spalding, Esq., of Sapelo Island, Ga., very kindly furnished the pedigree of this family. The emigrant ancestor came to this country before the Revolutionary War, and in that struggle espoused the cause of the King. After the close of the war, he returned to Georgia, where his descendants still live. These Spaldings are highly respectable, and have held important positions of influence and of trust in that State. I very much regret that my first communication from Charles Spalding, Esq., containing the genealogy of this family, was mislaid or lost.

The following letters furnish the only additional information at command: —

Dear Sir:—Your favor of the 27th ultimo reached me a few days since. As regards your request that I would duplicate my letter of last year, which you have mislaid, I can only reply in substance, as I kept no copy.

My grandfather, James Spalding, came to America about the year 1760;

he was the only son of Capt. Thomas Spalding, an officer in a Highland regiment, who lost his life by drowning, while serving in Holland.

From my grandfather's Bible, I make the following extracts: —

"Thomas Spalding and Anna Lermouth were married in the city of Edinburgh about the year 1734, — and afterwards his widow married Murdoch McLean, of the family of McLean of Loch Buy of the island of Mull, a captain of the 84th regiment." James Spalding, the son of Thomas and Anna, was married Nov. 5th, 1772, to Margery McIntosh at the house of her father, William McIntosh, planter, on Sapelo River, Georgia.

From this marriage was born at Frederica, on the island of St. Simon, March 25, 1774, Thomas Spalding, my father, an only child. Thomas Spalding married, at the residence of her father, Richard Leake of Belleville, Sarah Leake, my mother, — and they had numerous issue, and many of their descendants still survive, — but as it is not necessary to your object that I should enumerate them all, I will only add that none of the male line of James Spalding remain, except myself, a man advanced in life and childless, and my two nephews, Thomas and Bourke Spalding (sons of Randolph Spalding, deceased); they are now living on Sapelo Island, the former recently married.

From the above you will see that we are not connected with your family, or with that of Maryland, nor do I think we can be traced to any English family of our name, as my forefathers were established in Scotland, from a very remote period, early in the fourteenth century.

Very respectfully and truly,
Your ob't servant,

CHARLES SPALDING.

Rev. S. J. SPALDING.

Dear Sir: — Your favor of the 13th of May only reached me yesterday, or it should have received an earlier answer. I welcome your correspondence, as taking us from a disagreeable present, to the past, where, in accordance with the instincts of advancing years, I like to linger.

Your last communication found me in an old ruinous house by the seaside, where I sometimes resort, but do not permanently reside; and I was able to answer you promptly, because I keep there my father's Bible, and some other relics, under the charge of an old Freedman, himself an heirloom, for he waited in his boyhood on my maternal grandfather. But I fear I cannot immediately give you the further information you ask for, as regards my brother Randolph Spalding's family, as his widow and her sons reside several hundred miles from me, and they have their family record with them. I propose, "Deo volente," to spend the next winter on the coast, in their neighborhood, and will then, if you wish it, furnish the fuller particulars you ask for.

I notice your request to be allowed to make use of the hurried memoir I sent you of my immediate progenitors. I can have no objection to your doing so, although I feel that it was very incomplete, and particularly as regards my grandfather, James Spalding, whose return to Georgia was not mentioned. I should have stated that after the close of the Revolutionary war, the Legislature of Georgia made all the amends in their power to this ill-used man. They restored such of his property as had not already passed into other hands, and voted him some small indemnity for the damage done him. He returned to Georgia and lived there very much respected, but greatly reduced in his circumstances. He died in Savannah, and was buried in the vault of his wife's uncle, Gen. Lachlan McIntosh, of the Revolutionary army. I have not the date of his death at hand, but it is inscribed on the tablet, and it was towards the close of the last century.

As you seem uncertain whether your ancestor, Edward Spalding, was of Scotch or English origin, I will mention a few particulars of the family in Scotland, which may not have come to your knowledge.

We trace to Andrew Spalding (I think that is the Christian name, but have not seen the records for so long, that I may have forgotten), a burgess of Berwick on Tweed, who admitted Robert Bruce into that fortress during his war with Edward; for this service rendered, he was given the lands Ashantilly in Perthshire, which remained with his descendants almost to our day. Consult Lord Haile's annals of Scotland, if you can get them; probably the records of the Spalding Club, an antiquarian association in Scotland, might furnish interesting matter; but I live too much out of the world to get access to them. I think our name was originally Flemish, for the town of Spalding, in England, was settled by a colony of Flemings, and history also tells us that, not long before the surrender of Berwick to the Bruce, a body of Flemings had been butchered by Edward in Berwick, and the same annalists also tell us that my, and perhaps your, ancestor was moved to open the gates to the Scotch, by a sense of wrong suffered under Edward.

I am perhaps repeating to you what you know perfectly well already; if so, excuse me, — if otherwise, I may have opened to you a pleasant field of exploration.

Thanking you for your kind invitation, and reciprocating it,

I am very respectfully and truly

Dear Sir: — Having occasion to write to my brother Randolph Spalding's widow, I bore in mind your request to be furnished with the full records of her family, which she has obligingly furnished me, and which I here transcribe.

Randolph Spalding married, in Russell county, Alabama, Mary Bass, on the 7th of December, 1843. Had issue — 1st, Sarah E. Spalding, born on the 16th of September, 1844, at The Forest, McIntosh Co. 2d, Thomas Spalding, born on the 16th day of September, 1847, in Russell county, Alabama. 3d, Thomas Bourke Spalding, born on Sapelo Island, on the 23d of February, 1851. When, if ever, you publish any genealogical paper, I should be glad to receive a copy. My post-office during the present summer is Griffin, Georgia; during the winter, Darien.

The following letters from the Most Rev. Martin John Spalding, D. D., Archbishop of Baltimore, will furnish information in regard to the Maryland branch of the Spaldings.

LOUISVILLE, June 21, 1859.

E. W. SPALDING, ESQ.

Dear Sir: — Yours of the 30th ult. reached Louisville while I was absent, and it could not be attended to sooner. I regret that it is not in my power to furnish you with much information, especially in regard to the New England branch of our family, of whom I may say I know nothing definite. I will give you some information in regard to the Maryland or Catholic branch, which is that to which I belong, though even in this my sources of information are by no means abundant. In a country where ancestry is so little regarded, and where every one is the artificer of his own fortune, our acquaintance with our forefathers is limited.

The ancestor or ancestors of our family came out to Maryland either with Lord Baltimore, or very soon afterwards. The family settled originally in St. Mary's county, Md., from which it branched off into Charles and the neighboring counties, and afterwards spread into Pennsylvania and Virginia. That the family is one of the oldest in Maryland, I infer from the fact that my grandfather had an uncle, Thomas Spalding, who, I believe, was born in Maryland, and who died more than fifty years ago at the advanced age of one hundred and twenty years. The family is still very numerous in Maryland; though all my more immediate relatives are in Kentucky or the West. For more particulars in regard to the Maryland branch, I beg to refer you to Basil R. Spalding, Esq., North Charles Street, Baltimore; also to James Spalding, Esq., Richmond, Va. You might also probably gain information by conferring with Mr. Davis, of Baltimore, author of the "Day-Star of Freedom," a work vindicating the Maryland Pilgrim Fathers, written by Mr. Davis, a Protestant lawyer.

My grandfather, Benedict Spalding, came with his family to Kentucky, in the spring of 1791. He had a large family of twelve children, all of whom, except three, are now dead, most of them leaving large families. My own father, the oldest son of my grandfather, Richard Spalding, died in 1850, leaving fourteen living children, I being the third son, having been born May 23, 1810. I was educated partly in Kentucky and partly in Rome, where I remained four years to complete my theological course, and where I was ordained priest in 1834. I was consecrated Bishop Coadjutor of Louisville on the 10th of Sept. 1848; and succeeded to the title of Bishop of Louisville on the death of my venerable principal, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Flaget, Feb. 11, 1850. I have at different times published five works, of which I will take pleasure in presenting you copies, should you require them, and conclude to go on with your work.

It is almost needless to add, that all the members of our branch are Roman Catholics. They came, no doubt, originally from Spalding, in England; and I believe that the original orthography of the name is that which we adopt. The family was originally German or Saxon; and Spalding is the name of a German philosopher of some standing, but tinctured, I believe, — for I never saw his works, — with infidel or rationalistic opinions. There was also an English Spalding, who was the author of a history of English literature, which is often quoted, but, from the account I have of it, is not very reliable or unprejudiced.

From intimations which I have received from some of the older members of the family, I infer that our ancestors came over to America from Wales, to which principality a branch of the family had probably removed from the English town of Spalding. This town was originally one of the great abbacies, which were suppressed under Henry VIII. or Edward VI. See 2d volume of Cobbett's History of the Reformation in England, where it is numbered among the suppressed abbacies.

My relative, Basil R. Spalding, of Baltimore, to whom I referred above, has the coat-of-arms of the family, which he obtained many years ago from an English Professor of Heraldry. If he has returned from Europe, whither he went more than a year ago, he will take pleasure in showing you, or allowing you to copy, this curious piece of heraldry; in which the mitre, probably that of an abbot, crowns the escutcheon.

These meagre details contain almost all that I am able to say on the subject concerning which you ask information. I shall, however, take great pleasure in giving you any further aid or information which you may require, and which I may be able to furnish.

I remain faithfully yours,

M. J. SPALDING,

Bishop of Louisville.

106 N. CHARLES STREET, BALTIMORE,
Jan. 6, 1871.

REV. SAMUEL J. SPALDING.

Dear Sir: — I must commend you for your zeal in making genealogical researches in regard to the family of Spaldings; the more so, as in our country and generation, men are so much taken up with current events and the present — and, I may add, with themselves — as to forget the past, especially their ancestors, proceeding apparently on the trite adage — alas, too true! — "Out of sight, out of mind."

In addition to what I wrote some years ago to E. W. Spalding, so far as I can recollect what I wrote, I beg to make the following remarks concerning the Maryland branch of the family.

1. It is certain that the Spaldings of Maryland were fully established in St. Mary's Co. before the year 1650; for deeds and other papers of that date, in their name, are still found in Leonardtown; though, if I mistake not, an accident of fire destroyed some of the documents. I incline to think that they came some years before this date, probably in the early commencement of the colony, very shortly after the arrival of the first ship of emigrants.

2. As you very correctly spell your own name, no doubt Spalding is the correct orthography; it is that of England, Scotland, and of Germany, whence the name originally came into England, probably with the Anglo-Saxons, in the fifth or sixth century. A great German writer, though far from orthodox, bears the name Spalding, an infidel philosopher. All other spellings are simply barbarisms, to be eliminated.

3. I believe that the head-quarters of the family in England was Lincolnshire, where one of them, at a very early period, founded and gave his name to the great Abbey of Spalding, one of the thirteen great abbeys of England spared by Henry VIII., but confiscated under his son Edward VI. I think, from my researches and whatever knowledge I may have in such matters, that the present town of Spalding grew up around and under the fostering influence of this abbey (not priory). Such is the origin of many flourishing European towns. The monks made desert places smile, and agriculture and population followed them

4. In order that you may have some further clew as to the origin and relations of your branch of the family, I will mention to you: 1st, that my grandfather, Benedict Spalding, had twelve children to survive and raise large families, all except one, who had no children. 2d. His sons were named Richard, Thomas, Benedict, Joseph, Lewis, and William; and the oldest, my own father, Richard, had twenty-one children, of whom fifteen were raised to become men and women. He married Henrietta Hamilton, whose father was Leonard Hamilton, the same who emigrated to Kentucky with my grandfather in 1790. The names of my brothers were Leonard, Richard, Benedict, Clement, William, Joseph, Henry, and Thomas. The most current names of the family itself — not borrowed from side alliances — are still George, Samuel, Basil, Henry, John, Thomas, Richard, Edward, James, etc.

5. In Kentucky alone, I know of no less than five branches of the family from Maryland, all Catholics, evidently from the same stock, but little related; and as they are all prolific, the number must now be very great throughout the West.

6. I have little doubt that all the Spaldings came originally from Lincolnshire, in England; and that first the abbey, and then the town of Spalding, was their alma mater and nursery.

These are a few of the many things which occur to me. If there be anything else in which I can serve you,

I remain faithfully yrs.

M. J. SPALDING,

Archbishop of Baltimore.

FIRST GENERATION.

1. EDWARD SPALDING.

He was the first of the family of whom we have any knowledge, and came to America in the earliest years of the Massachusetts Colony; probably between 1630 and 1633. He first appears in Braintree, Mass., where his first wife Margaret and his daughter Grace died, and where one of his children, Benjamin. was born. The following records from the town of Braintree were returned to the recorder in Boston, and are published in the Hist. and Gen. Reg., vol. 3, p. 247.

"Benjamin the Sonne of Edward Spalden, his wife, was born 7°, (2°), 1643.
Grace the daught^r of Edward Spalden, his wife was buryed (3°), 1641.
Margaret the wife of Edward Spalden dyed —— 1640."

Edward Spalding was made a Freeman May 13, 1640, from which fact we know that he was a member of the established church of the Province; as no person could be made a Freeman, or be entitled to any share in the government, or be capable of being chosen a magistrate, or even of serving on a jury, who was not a member of some one of the churches established in the Colony.

The third mention of Edward Spalding is in the following petition made Oct. 1, 1645. [Colonial Rec., vol. 2, p. 128.]

part of the freemen that shall first build & plant thereupon, so that the whole make up the number of seaven, shall have power to admit or keepe out whom they thinke good, & that the Gen^r^all Co^r^t should write letters to Benedict Arnold, to compound wth Pumhome at the easiest rate he can, for his right in any improved ground, & that the petitioners shall dispose of ye houses built upon ye said ground, with this proviso, that they shall pay to such as built them what the Co^r^t shall hereafter appoint, if they see cause so to do; this is granted provided they go on, & ten families be there within twelve months."

The name next appears in connection with the settlement of Chelmsford, Mass. In Allen's History of Chelmsford, p. 8, we find the following statement:—

"About twenty persons from Woburn and Concord at the last session of the General Court in 1652, petitioned for liberty to examine a tract of land, 'lying on the other side (west) of Concord river.' The Court accepted and granted their request. Having by a joint committee examined and viewed the aforesaid tract of land, and having also found sundry others to the number of thirty-nine in all, desirous of uniting with them in erecting a new plantation, they jointly petitioned the legislature for a grant of land, 'bordering upon the river Merrimack, near to Pawtuckett.'"

The petition was granted [Colonial Records, vol. 3, p. 301] May 18, 1653, and Capt. Willard of Concord and Capt. Johnson of Woburn were appointed to lay out the township. It was about six miles square.

The town was incorporated May, 1655, and "upon information by letter from Esdras Reed, Edward Spalding and William Fletcher, inhabitants of said plantation, that the number of inhabitants according to the time prefixed in the Court's grant, were there settled; at their request the Court do grant the name thereof to be called Chelmsford." It was named after Chelmsford in England, county of Essex, which derived its name from the river Chelmer, on which it is situated. [Allen, pp. 12, 13.]

The town in the first grant did not extend to the Merrimack River, but, May 3, 1656, on petition of the inhabitants, the northeast boundary was extended to it. Among the signers of this petition was Edward Spalding.

In this enlargement was some of the best land in the town, and a portion containing 214 acres, was fenced in 1669, and called the "New Field." The names of the proprietors are given (Allen, p. 169), and among these we find Edward Spalding, Sen., Edward Spalding, Jun., and John Spalding.

In 1686, the land lying west of Concord river and south of the Merrimack, near Pawtucket Falls, called "Wamesit," was sold by the Indians to Jonathan Tyng and Maj. Thomas Hinchman. Mr. Tyng conveyed his right in the Wamesit purchase, excepting one forty-sixth part, to Maj. Hinchman, for £50, who sold the whole tract to forty-four persons, reserving one share to himself. These forty-six joint proprietors built a wall on the south side, extending from Merrimack River to Concord River, and for some years used the land as a common pasture for their cattle. It was annexed to Chelmsford, 1726. [Allen, p. 27.]

The first named among these proprietors is Edward Spalding, who was the son of the elder Edward. We also find among them John Spalding, John Spalding, Jun., Joseph Spalding, Benjamin Spalding, and Andrew Spalding, the five sons and one grandson of the elder Spalding. This territory is now within the most densely settled part of the city of Lowell.

There is a tradition (which is given by Allen, in his history of Chelmsford, pp. 16, 17) that Edward Spalding removed to Wenham, Mass., and was one of the Wenham company which removed to Chelmsford; but I can find no trace of his being there, upon any records of that town. He removed to Chelmsford, Mass., at, or immediately after, the first settlement of that town, in 1653. His name does not appear in the list of original grantees, but at the first town meeting held Nov. 22, 1654, he was chosen one of the Selectmen. The record is as follows: —

"The 22d, the 9. month: 1654. At a meeting then at William Fletcher's Hous, there was chosen to officiate in ordering the Public Affairs of the Place by the Consent of the Major part of the Town for this present year ensuing: are as followeth: — Ezdras Reed: Edward Spalding: William Fletcher: Isaac Learned: Simeon Thompson: William Underwood: Thomas Adams:"

He was also chosen Selectman in 1656, 1660, and 1661. Under date of Feb. 4, 1661, is recorded the division of land granted him by the Town, amounting to 28 acres, and consisting of 12 acres on Stony Brook, 10 acres at Little Tadmuck, and 6 acres on Merrimack Plain. In 1665 he was appointed one of a "Committee for the laying out the Meadow granted to the several Inhabitants according to the Town Order." In 1663 he was "the Survéyor of the Highways." In 1666, he was chosen with three others "Surveyor for the Newfield," a tract of land lying north of Stony Brook, then first opened for pasturage, afterward when settled as a village, called "Newfield" and subsequently "North Chelmsford." Edward Spalding was himself one of the Proprietors of the "Newfield," as recorded in the Town Records, March 12, 1667; his proportion being 6 acres.

The attention of the first settlers was early given to the culture of apple-trees, and special mention is made of the orchard of Edward Spalding, in 1664.

From the settlement of the Spaldings in Chelmsford, Mass., there went out, about 1700, a large emigration to Plainfield, Conn. The following facts transcribed from the records of Plainfield, Conn., may be found in the Hist. and Gen. Reg., vol. 15, p. 53:—

"Plainfield, Conn., was granted to Gov. John Winthrop of New London, about 1655, settled from Massachusetts, and incorporated 1699; and contained, Dec. 24, 1702, the following freeholders, residing on the east side of the Quinebaug River." Among the thirty-four named are John Spalding [10], Joseph Spalden [6], Edward Spalden [12], and Benjamin Spalden [5].

"Oct. 10, 1706, the General Court of Connecticut, in answer to a petition, gave a more ample confirmation to nineteen of the above proprietors, and to the following new proprietors." Among the nineteen mentioned, are the four Spaldings above named.

This Connecticut colony consisted of two of the sons of Edward Senior, Benjamin, and Joseph, and seven grandsons. It is probable also that William, the son of Andrew, went to Connecticut.

A large emigration also went from Chelmsford, at a later period, to Ludlow and Cavendish, Vt. It was said that it was safe to address any one in either of these towns as Spalding, since the persons bearing this name constituted a large proportion of the inhabitants.

The same restless spirit which moved the Spaldings to emigrate from Chelmsford to Connecticut, continued in force in their descendants, and led to settlements in Plainfield and Cornish, N. H., Moretown, Middletown, Sharon, and Panton, Vt., and Bradford County, Penn.; and now there is not a State or Territory, north of Mason and Dixon's Line, in which the descendants of Edward Spalding may not be found.

As a race, they are possessed of great physical vigor, and, for the most part, are tillers of the soil. There are, however, many successful and wealthy men of business among them. About fifty have graduated at different colleges, and about forty have graduated at the different schools of law, medicine, science, and theology. The practice of medicine has been the leading preference, next to this the ministry, and then the law.

It will be seen from the rolls of the soldiers, that the family has been represented in the army, in every war in which the country has been engaged. The returns are necessarily very incomplete, but they indicate the patriotism of the family, and it must be borne in mind that we have given the names only of the Spaldings. Had the descendants of the female lines been given, the number on these rolls would have been doubled.

The children of his wife Margaret, were John, b. about 1633; Edward, born about 1635; and Grace, b. —— The latter was buried (3°. 1641) May, 1641. His wife Margaret died Aug. 1640.

Of his wife Rachel, named in his will, there were Benjamin, b. April 7, 1643; Joseph, b. Oct. 25, 1646; Dinah, b. March 14, 1649; Andrew, b. Nov. 19, 1652.

He died Feb. 26, 1670. His will, dated Feb. 13, 1667, in which his sons Benjamin and Joseph are not mentioned, made his wife Rachel executrix. But she died soon after him, and on probate of the will, April 5, 1670, administration was given to John and Edward. The reason, undoubtedly, why his sons Benjamin and Joseph were not mentioned in the will, was because he had already given them their portions, which they had invested in lands in Plainfield and Killingly, Conn.

The following are copies of the will of Edward Spalding, and the inventory of his estate: —

Benjamin is not mentioned in the will of his father, as he had already received his portion. He purchased a large tract of land in the northerly part of Canterbury, Windham County, Conn., now called Brooklyn. His family homestead was transmitted to his son Edward, and in process of time to Edward's son Ebenezer.

The children of Benjamin and Olive were as follows: —

This date is given on the Plainfield records with this addition: "if he had lived to Aug. next, 97." If the Plainfield record is correct, he was born in August, 1743. Aug. 17, 1728, at Plainfield, Conn., in the 76th year of her age. In the Middlesex Records, p. 196, Hist. and Gen. Library, Boston, she is called Mary, and it is my impression that Mary, and not Mercy, is the true name. For in vol. 17, p. 187, office of Register of Deeds, Middlesex Co., Mr. Joseph Spalding and Mary his wife, in consideration of "100 pounds in good and lawful bills of public credit," convey to Massachusetts Commissioners their home lot, etc., 135 acres. This was done Feb. 2, 1714. In vol. 17, p. 182, of the same office, Joseph Spalding, carpenter, of Plainfield, New London Co., Conn., conveys to his son Joseph, wheelwright, of Chelmsford, Ms., certain lands on condition he relinquishes all claim to land or lands in Plainfield, Conn. This is also signed by Joseph and Mary Spalding. Two sons of Joseph, Nathaniel and Thomas, emigrated to Plainfield, Conn., to which place Joseph himself removed, but at what time we cannot determine.

The children of Joseph and Mary were as follows: —

191. WILLIAM[3] [51] (Andrew[2], Edward[1]), b. Aug. 3, 1688, in Chelmsford, Ms.

There is no account of the death of this William, and no mention made of him in the will of his father. As the records of the family of Deacon Andrew are quite full and minute, we infer that William lived to grow up, and followed his uncles and cousins into Connecticut, and received his portion of his father's estate when he left home. We have no definite knowledge of him or of his wife. He is the first William among the early Spaldings From a comparison of names and dates, we are confident he had a son Elijah.

He emigrated in 1715 with the first settlers to the South Parish, Killingly, Conn. The following adventure is given in Barber's Historical Collections of Connecticut, as occurring in 1720: "Jacob one day purchased of an Indian a deer skin, for which he paid him a tenor bill The latter being intoxicated, soon forgot that he received it, and asked for the money a second time. Jacob of course paid no attention to such an unwarrantable demand, and the Indian went away muttering revenge. The next day while shingling a barn, Jacob saw him returning with two companions. He leaped from the roof, met them, and was again asked to pay the price of the deer skin. He refused to comply, till one of the company, who appeared to be the Sachem of his tribe, said he had come to see 'fair play,' and avowed it to be honorable for two Indians to contend with one white man. Jacob therefore plucking up courage laid them both on the ground and gave them a 'sound drubbing.' The one who was looking on said, 'Poor Dogs, Poor Dogs! me hope he kill you both.' The next day Jacob saw them coming again, and the one who supposed himself cheated was in the act of loading his rifle. Thrusting his hand into his pocket to find the ball, he drew out the identical bill which he had received two days before. Seeing Jacob coming to meet him he said, 'Me now believe Jacob you paid me de tenor bill.' Jacob then turned to the one who had come to see fair play and asked what shall we do with him? 'Tie him to de tree and whip him,' was the reply. This was done by the Indians themselves. The poor fellow after this humiliating treatment, became dejected, fled his tribe, & was never heard of afterwards. Such was the principle of honor among the Indians."

My father, says John Spalding [8195], since my recollection, cut down the walnut to which the Indian was tied which had grown to be a large tree.

284. SAMUEL[4] [75] (Samuel[3], John[2], Edward[1]), b. June 4, 1699. Of this Samuel it is only known that he went with his father's family, in 1706, from Chelmsford, Ms., to Canterbury, Conn., and that in 1726 he shared in the division of his father's property, and received as the eldest son, £156 17*s.* 6*d*, of which £28 6*s.* 4*d.* was in personal estate. The indications are that he went to the northwestern part of Connecticut. Of his wife and children we know nothing, except that he had a son Uriah. There may have been others, but we have found no traces of them.

In 1731 a religious society was "taken out of Pomfret, Canterbury, & Mortlake, & commonly known as Mortlake," now Brooklyn, Conn. In April, 1733, it was voted to build a church. In August it was voted "that the meeting-house shall stand between Samuel & Zack Spaldings," there being thirty for that place and eight against it. The following year Mr. Samuel Spalding deeded two and a half acres of land to the society "for a meeting-house spot & other uses." The house was set a little northwest of the present green, which was included in the gift of Mr. Spalding.

311. Col. SIMEON[4] [85] (Joseph[3], John[2], Edward[1]). He was the youngest son of Joseph Spalding, and was born in Chelmsford, Aug. 4, 1713. His father, at that time, was living in his homestead house, since demolished, situated a little over a mile west of the village. After the death of his father in 1728, the homestead property was divided by a Board of Commissioners, among the widow and children; Simeon's part being his portion of the house and outbuildings and fifty-six acres of land, — valued altogether at £161 5*s.* 10*d.* In February, 1736, he purchased of Nathan Kendall ten acres of land in Chelmsford, lying on the county road, half a mile west of the village, upon which he afterwards built the homestead house occupied by himself during the remainder of his life, and by his son Noah Spalding after him, At the same time he purchased thirteen acres of meadow and woodland lying in the neighborhood. In 1737 he purchased eight acres, also lying in the immediate vicinity of the above. In 1738 he purchased of his brother, John Spalding, nineteen acres on the south bank of the Merrimack River. In 1748, ten acres of meadow and upland; in 1749, fifty-one acres; in 1751, two acres of orchard; in 1758, ten acres in the "Wamesit Purchase"; and, in 1767, eighteen acres of woodland.

He was chosen Town Treasurer in 1755, 1756, and 1757; and Selectman for the years 1761 and 1762. March 18, 1755, he was commissioned cornet of the first troop of horse in the Second Regiment of the Provincial Militia. He early took an active part in public affairs during the American Revolution.

In 1770 he was chosen Representative of the town "at a Great and General Court or assembly appointed to be convened, held and kept for his Majesty's Service at Harvard College in Cambridge upon Wednesday the thirteenth day of May for the ensuing year."

In 1773, while he was still acting as Representative, a meeting of the freeholders was convened "to know the Sentiments of the Town respecting the many grievances we at present labor under, particularly the extraordinary Stipend of the Judge of the Superiour Court, appointed from home, and more particularly to consider a letter and bill of rights from the Town of Boston,"—when the following instructions were unanimously adopted: —

"Jany. 21: 1773. To Mr. Simeon Spalding, Representative of the Town of Chelmsford in the General Court of this Province.

"Sir: As the present aspect of the Times is Dark and Difficult we do not doubt but you will cheerfully know the Sentiments and receive the assistance of those you represent. The matters that may now come under your Cognizance are of great Importance. The highest Wisdom, therefore, Prudence and Discretion is evidently necessary. We would earnestly caution you, and your own good Sense will See the propriety of it, by no means to consent to any Rash Passionate Plan of action, which will not only Sully the Dignity, but finally prove the utter Destruction of the Cause we pretend to support. Such Behaviour no private person can justify. States should despise it. The Stipend annexed to the office of the Judge of the Superiour Court is complained of as a grievance, but will it not be proper at least to inquire whether this is not in a great measure owing to some defect in ourselves: whether the Provision formerly made by us was not miserably deficient, and utterly unworthy the highest Court we boast of and the Dignity of the Province itself. As to the removal of grievances, we do not doubt your own Wisdom and the Wisdom of your Brethren will invent some suitable Mode of Redress. We hope those little animosities and those Reflections which involve persons not things and which have been too frequently used, may be utterly banished. We hope every Determination will be founded in the nature of a free State: and that therefore every Privilege annexed to each part may be religiously Preserved. Of consequence you will be careful, not to trample on Majesty, while you are firmly but Decently pleading the liberties of the subject. Sir, we wish you that wisdom which is from above, and we pray God that your Conduct in this Important Crisis may be such as the coolest Reflection will ever after Justify." [Town Records, Book I. p. 147.]

He was re-elected Representative to the General Court in May, 1773, May, 1774, and September, 1774. Immediately after the last election, the Town adopted the following letter of instructions: —

"As we have now chosen you to Represent us in the Great and General Court now to be holden at Salem on Wednesday the fifth day of October next ensuing, — we do hereby Instruct you that in all your Doings as a Member of the House of Representatives, you adhere firmly to the Charter of this Province granted by their Majesties K. William and Q. Mary, and that you do no act which can possibly be construed into an acknowledgement of the validity of an act of the British Parliament for altering the government of the Massachusetts Bay; — more especially that you acknowledge the honorable Board of * Councillors elected by the General Court at their Sessions in May last, as the only Rightfull and Constitutional Council of this Province; and as we have reason to believe that a Conscientious Discharge of your Duty will produce your Dissolution as a House of Representatives, we do hereby Impower and Instruct you to join with the Members who may be sent from the other towns in the Province, and to meet with them at a time to be agreed on, in a General Provincial Congress, to act upon such matters as may come before you in such a manner as shall appear to you most conducive to the true Interest of this Town and Province and most likely to preserve the Liberties of all America."

[Town Records, Book II. p. 233.]

In Sept. 1775, he was appointed Justice of the Peace by the Provincial Council; and in Feb. 1776, he was Commissioned Colonel of the Seventh Regiment of the Provincial Militia. This commission was also given by the Council, there being no Governor at that time.

In 1776 he was elected Chairman of a "Committee of Correspondence, Inspection, and Safety," chosen by the town. This Committee consisted in all of sixteen members.

He was re-elected to the General Court in May 1775, and May 1776.

Immediately after the last election, it was "Voted — that if it should be the pleasure of the honorable Continental Congress to declare an Independent State with Great Britain, that said Town will stand by them at the expense of Life and fortunes."

Col. Spalding continued a member of the General Court until

* The Parliament had this year passed an Act making the Councillors of the Province, who were previously elected by the General Court, appointees of the Crown.

1778. In that year the "Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union between the United States" having been submitted by the General Congress to the Legislatures of the States, the Town voted (Feb. 26) not to give special instructions to their Representative, but "leave the matter discretionary with him, to act as he may think will be most advantageous to this and the other States relative to that matter."

In May, 1778, he was chosen one of a committee "to adjust all past Services done in the war by the inhabitants of the Town since March, 1777."

In 1779 he was chosen Delegate to the "Convention for framing a Constitution of Government for the State of Massachusetts Bay," which continued its sessions from Sept. 1, 1779, to June 16, 1780.

In March, 1781, he was commissioned Justice of the Peace by Gov. Hancock Court when the Stamp Act was passed in 1765. The following is the report of this Committee, which was unanimously adopted: —

"This being a time when by reason of several acts of Parliament not only this province but all the English colonies on this continent are thrown into the utmost confusion & perplexity; the Stamp act as we apprehended, not only lays an unconstitutional but also an unsupportable tax upon us, & deprives us we humbly conceive, of those rights, & privileges to which we are entitled as free-born Subjects of Great Britain by the royal charter. Wherefore we think it our duty & interest at this critical conjuncture of our public affairs, to direct you, Sir, our representative to be so far from countenancing the execution of the aforesaid Stamp act, that you use your best endeavors, that such measures may be taken & such remonstrances made to the King & Parliament, as may obtain a speedy repeal of the aforesaid act; & a removal of the burden upon trade. We also desire you to exert your influence to use the public monies with frugality & to the promotion of the interests of the people at large."

Dec. 20, 1795; they resided in Chelmsford, and all their children were born in that town. Jan. 11, 1773, at a town meeting called "to know the sentiments of the people, relative to certain grievances under which the Colony is laboring, particularly the extraordinary stipends of the Judges of the Superior Court appointed from home; also to consider a bill of rights and a letter from the town of Boston, a Committee was raised to report upon this subject." This committee consisted of David Spalding, Jonathan W. Austin, Esqs., Capt. Oliver Barron, Samuel Perham, and Benjamin Walker. At an adjourned meeting of the town they reported as follows:—

"We are fully of opinion that the inhabitants of this province are justly entitled to all the privileges of Englishmen & to all those rights inseparable from them as members of a free community. We are sensible that some of these rights are endangered. In such unhappy circumstances, the only question that can arise is what method is most suitable to obtain redress. Whatever doubts may arise about the particular mode, of this we are confident, that all rash, passionate procedures are unjustifiable, in so delicate a crisis. When a community thinks its rights endangered, they should always weigh consequences, & be very cautious, lest they run into a step that may be attended with the most deplorable effects. 'The cause of liberty,' says a fine writer, 'is a cause of too much dignity to be settled by turbulence and tumult. When the passions of a people are inflamed, reason is too often silenced; and they soon forget the cause, in which they originally embarked. Whereas the patriot on true principles always endeavors to keep those principles in view. Conscious that he is a Member of Community, he will endeavour to come up to all the obligations resulting therefrom, & keep every part thereof entire. Therefore while he coolly and firmly pleads his own right, he will not forget that of his Sovereign; but will be always Sensible that loyalty to the Sovereign & regard to the liberties of the Subject are very consistent things.' We are full & clear in these Sentiments & hope to regulate our conduct by them. We at present labor under grievances. We heartily concur with our brethren in Boston, that it is high time these grievances were redressed. But we think the General Court, who represent the province the only proper body to perform this task. We are therefore of opinion that We can do nothing consistent with that wisdom, which should govern a free people; but prepare the following instructions to our representative." [Sketch of Col. Simeon Spalding.]

At a meeting of the freeholders, May 30, 1774, a committee of correspondence was appointed, consisting of nine persons. Of these, David Spalding and Simeon Spalding were two. Such committees were chosen in all the towns of the province for the more ready diffusion of information. The same year, 1774, an effort was made to arrest the growing iniquity of the community; and an article was inserted in the town warrant, "to see if the town will empower Suitable persons to take Such measures as they shall think proper to punish & discourage vice & profaneness, & call to an account idle, disorderly persons, who waste their time & Substance in public houses at unlawful gaming, horse-racing & excessive drinking, frolicking & Sabbath-breaking"

Of the five Selectmen that year, David Spalding and Zebulon Spalding were two. Upon the foregoing article, "the Selectmen and fifteen others were empowered to devise and execute such measures as they may think proper for promoting a reformation among persons of the above description." Of the committee of fifteen, Simeon Spalding was one. The Selectmen and Committee reported the adoption of the following measures. "That the Company of these dissolute persons be shunned; & that people leave off dealing with them as far as is consistent with good reason & justice, not entertaining them in their houses by night or by day; but manifesting a dislike to their conduct, & bearing testimony against their vicious practices, look upon them as disturbers of the peace & good order of Society; that the Committee converse with such persons, & use their endeavors to reform them; & that those Continuing in such practices, be put out by the Committee to some honest & lawful employment; & finally that the town will aid, assist & support said Committee in proceeding with such offenders accordingly." This report of the committee was unanimously

Dyer Spalding, the seventh child of Jonathan Spalding and Judah Billings, his wife, was a friend and neighbor of General Israel Putnam, who was a native of Pomfret, the town adjoining Plainfield.

During the French and Indian War, from 1755 to 1760, when he was from twenty-three to twenty-eight years old, he was with Gen. Putnam, being one of Putnam's Rangers. His commission as Captain was given by King George II. In after years, this commission became a plaything for his grandchildren, who destroyed it. He was in the battle of Bloody Brook. He has marched sixty miles in one day; the compass which was his guide through the forest is still in the possession of the family. Once when out scouting in Connecticut, being short of provisions, a sheep was taken from a flock, dressed, and a quarter carried to General Putnam. "Spalding, Spalding," said the General, who lisped, "put it all out of sight before daylight."

Dudley Chase obtained a grant from Gov. Bowdoin of a township of land on Connecticut River, and called it Cornish, in honor of Cornwall in England, where his great-great-grandfather, Aquila Chase, was born in 1618. He emigrated to America, and settled in Newbury, Massachusetts.

Dyer Spalding was one of the first three settlers in Cornish, 1766. No settlements then existed north of Charlestown, called Fort Number Four, and no other fort was between this and Canada. The whole country was covered by an entire forest of the largest and tallest trees. These three men went to the Mast Camp, opposite to where Windsor, Vermont, now is, and sixteen miles north of Fort Number Four. Officers were appointed by the crown to select all trees suitable for his majesty's navy, and to mark them with the broad arrow. This Mast Camp was one station of these officers. They had marked one tree on the land Dyer Spalding bought, but his majesty never got it.

Mr. Spalding was particularly skilful in the management of a boat or an Indian canoe. On one occasion, when he went in his canoe to Fort Number Four for provisions, he found the wife of Dudley Chase, who had been left, with her seven children, in the Fort for shelter, and security from the Indians. She urged Mr. Spalding to take herself and the children in the canoe to Cornish, and finally prevailed upon him to do so. Arriving near the Mast Camp, he made fast the canoe among the willows, went in search of Mr. Chase, and asked him what he supposed there was for him in the canoe. Not being able to guess, Mr. Spalding told him to come and see. Leading the way to the place of concealment, he then showed the astonished man his wife and children in the canoe. "Have you come to starve with us? Have you come to die here before your time? We have no house to shelter you; you will perish before we can erect one!" exclaimed the husband; but the wife replied, "Cheer up, cheer up; I have come to help you." The woods rang with shouts at the arrival of the first white woman and the first family on the banks of Connecticut River north of Number Four. Trees were quickly felled and peeled, and clean bark, in large sheets, was spread for a floor; other sheets were raised for walls, or laid on cross pieces for a roof. In less than three hours the house was finished, and a cheerful fire was burning in it.

Having cleared the land and planted the crop for the following season, on the approach of cold weather Mr. Spalding returned to Connecticut to pass the winter.

In Plainfield, Connecticut, on the eleventh of March, 1767, Dyer Spalding was married to Elizabeth Parkhurst, daughter of Timothy Parkhurst and Elizabeth Cady, his wife; she was born in Plainfield, Connecticut, July 7, 1734. Then, taking his wife with him, he went back to Cornish to remain permanently. Their journey was made on horseback, and, from Number Four, they came by marked trees. The bride "almost broke her neck," she said, "trying to look up to the tops of the noble pine trees." Mr. Wilson, the husband of Mrs. Spalding's sister, had chosen a farm four miles south of the Mast Camp; and in order that the two sisters might be neighbors, Mr. Spalding left the place he had at first occupied, and settled on the land next north of Wilson's. These two farms remained in the possession of the two families for a century. His house, the largest then in Cornish, is still standing, and until quite recently was the home of some of his descendants. The location was chosen with much taste, being in a grove of very large butternut trees, on a knoll, around two sides of which flowed "Colonel Spalding's Brook." The Connecticut River can be seen from the house, and Mount Ascutney rises on the opposite bank of the river. The farm consists of meadow and hill. "Col. Spalding's mountain" is five hundred feet high. "Col. Spalding's Brook," full of falls and rapids in beautiful variety, comes down the mountain, and after running parallel to the Connecticut for a mile, at last empties into it.

On the fifth of March, 1769, their eldest child was born, and named Esther, for Esther, the daughter of Lois Spalding, and wife of Thomas Wilson, who lived on the Low Meadows opposite.

On the fifth of May, 1772, their son Silas was born; and on the fifth of June, 1775, their son Lyman was born.

At the breaking out of the Revolutionary war, Mr. Spalding again became a soldier. He placed his family in charge of his wife's brother, Timothy Parkhurst, a school-master, who was lame and unfit for military duty; he was an excellent penman, as is shown by the family record, which he wrote in Mr. Spalding's large family Bible.

"At the breaking out of the Revolutionary war, a great many of the people of Claremont, who sided with the King, removed to Canada, or to other places under the protection of the British. No favor was shown to the tories, or even to those suspected by the people in general. Public indignation was aroused to such an extent that it was not safe for the remaining ones to live at home, but they were obliged to resort to the woods as a means of safety, visiting their homes but with the utmost caution. About fifty rods below the Rich Place, on the right side of the road as you go to Red Water Brook, there is a place known in revolutionary times to have been the resort of a band of tories, for this reason called Tory Hole. This place was peculiarly adapted to their purposes, being surrounded upon three sides by a swamp, covered with a thick growth of alders, and upon a fourth by a steep bank almost thirty feet in height; there being several paths leading to and from the camp known to the tories only. There was at this time a small company of resolute men, among whom were Colonel Dyer Spalding, Timothy Atkins, and one or two of his brothers, who determined, if possible, to find this retreat and to break up the band. It was customary for the unsuspected tories in the neighborhood to convey provisions to their more unfortunate brethren at the camp, and it was in performing this important duty that their retreat was discovered. One night in the autumn of 1780, a man with a large pack on his back, was seen to pass along the road by the Rich Place, and suddenly disappear in the woods. His mysterious movements attracting attention, the whigs in the neighborhood were soon informed of the fact. A large number of them having assembled, the secret way was discovered. But on account of the increasing darkness it was not deemed prudent to continue the search; therefore a guard was stationed with orders to shoot any one who attempted to pass, and the remaining whigs retired for the night. Several hours before sunrise, the party again assembled to renew the search. As they approached the camp, several tories sprang from the bushes and started off, running towards the Connecticut River. The whigs rushed after them, — the pursued having the advantage of the pursuers by several rods the start, the dense forest, and the scanty light. However, they followed them to the Connecticut River, where they found that the tories had crossed it; they plunged in, and crossed to the opposite side; there, finding the tracks of the fugitives, they followed them to the top of Ascutney Mountain, where they were found fast asleep. They immediately surrendered, and were taken to Charlestown, from thence sent to Boston, and afterwards exchanged."

The above is copied from an old number of the Claremont Eagle. It is a more minute account than I was able to give, when writing to you about Colonel Dyer Spalding. A gun, which he at that time took from those tories, is now in possession of his great-grandson, John Lyman Spalding, of Amboy, Lee County, Illinois.

Very truly yours,

E. P. SPALDING.

Claremont, Aug. 1870.

When Mr. Spalding received his commission as captain in the Continental army, he gave a dinner to his friends. The table was set on the level land beyond the Brook. There was dancing in the evening in the long north room. They danced to the tune of "The Captain's Lady." It must have been a popular tune then, for Burns wrote one of his songs to the same air.

Dyer Spalding was with Colonel Ethan Allen at Ticonderoga, May 10, 1775, when the surrender of that post was demanded "in the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress" Two days afterwards, Crown Point was taken without resistance. When a detachment of Burgoyne's army, under Col. Baum, entered Vermont, it was thought they would come to Windsor. Dyer Spalding run bullets for the expected encounter; and being skilful in boating, he conveyed the troops across the Connecticut. He was present at the battle of Saratoga, and at Burgoyne's surrender, October 10, 1777.

During the Revolution, Dyer Spalding held successively the ranks of captain, major, and colonel. The war being ended, Colonel Spalding returned once more to his family in Cornish. The sword which he carried during the war is now in the possession of Lyman Dyer Spalding, of Portsmouth, N. H.

Trinity Church was built in Cornish, probably in 1794. Colonel Spalding and his family worshipped there. When no clergyman was present, Lyman Spalding read the services.

Colonel Spalding was an excellent farmer, and was so ingenious he could work as a blacksmith or a mason, understood boating, was a shoemaker for himself and family, and carved bowls and dishes from knots of trees. .Having been a soldier so many years, he was equal to any work or any emergency. He had served his country in two wars, had proved himself a good soldier, and had seen the United States become independent. Having been a pioneer in the wilderness, he had seen the forests recede before cultivation, — the effect, in part, of his own enterprise and industry. He had a very pleasant disposition, very lively and cheerful, and was a most affectionate father.

His only daughter Esther was married in 1794 to Mr. Bill Barnes, of Claremont, N. H. Lyman graduated at Harvard University, and Cornish was his home no longer. Thus Silas alone was left with his parents. He brought his wife, Theodora Holton, there, in 1799.

Colonel Dyer Spalding died April 27, 1814, aged eighty-two years. Elizabeth, his wife, died June 3, 1816, aged eighty-two years. Their remains lie in the grounds of Trinity Church, Cornish, N. H.

Esther Spalding, daughter of Dyer Spalding, went on a journey to Plainfield, Conn., to visit her grandmother, Elizabeth Parkhurst. This was in 1789, when Esther was twenty years old. She was accompanied by her brother, Silas Spalding, her aunt Wilson (Patience Parkhurst), and Dr. Parkhurst, of Connecticut. The journey was made on horseback; there was no other way to go. The first day they went to Chesterfield, N. H., about forty miles. Esther was so tired when she dismounted she almost fainted, but she bore the rest of the journey very well.

The grandmother was ninety years old, and nearly blind, so she felt how large and tall Esther was. The chimney of the house was very large, and the fireplace so capacious that benches were placed in the corners of the jambs; Esther sat on them and looked out of the top of the chimney. The party also went to Providence, R. I., where Esther bought a changeable red and black silk dress, which in after years she gave to her daughter, Mrs. Eastman.

Their children were all born in Cornish, N. H.

772. PHINEAS[5] [257] (Isaac[4], Edward[3], John[2], Edward[1]), b. Jan. 23, 1719–20, in Plainfield, Conn.; he settled in Cornwall, Conn., from which place he removed in 1757, with a large family of children, by way of Fort Edward and Lake George, to what he supposed was Panton, Vt., of which town he was an original proprietor. He remained on the Swift farm, now in Addison, Vt., till Nov. 5, 1778, when his house and goods were burnt, and two of his sons taken prisoners. He escaped to Rutland, Vt., but died there not long after.

It is supposed that Oct. 1777, Phineas Spalding and eleven others of Panton and Addison were taken and kept awhile on board a vessel in the vicinity. Phineas Spalding was employed to dress the animals brought on board for food, until an opportunity occurred to him to jump into a small boat alongside the vessel, when he paddled for the shore, but before he reached it, he was observed and ordered back. Knowing they would fire upon him, and thinking his body too large a mark to escape, he plunged into the water, and swam safely ashore, amid the bullets of the British.

His son Nathan enlisted, and left home Jan. 20, 1776. He died at Quebec, the May following, of the small-pox, while being carried in a cart, when the army retreated.

In 1778 Maj. Carlton made a descent from Canada, and took thirty-nine men and boys prisoners, among them Halcomb Spalding.

I have been unable to establish a correspondence with any branch of this family. The names of the five sons of Phineas I believe to be, —

Dr. Matthias Spalding was the ninth son and thirteenth child of Colonel Simeon Spalding, of Chelmsford, Ms. His mother, Abigail Wilson, a second wife, having children by a previous husband, was a Johnson of the fourth generation in descent from Captain Edward Johnson, of Woburn, who came from Kent County, England, in 1630. Colonel Simeon Spalding was an officer in the Revolutionary army, and on the morning of the battle of Bunker Hill, he was ordered to the American camp at Cambridge. Dr. Spalding used to say that he remembered the booming of the cannon on the day of that bloody battle.

The early years of Dr. Spalding were passed in agricultural pursuits. He worked on the farm of his father at Old Chelmsford, and on the land owned by him on the Merrimack, near Pawtucket Falls, in what is now Lowell. He always retained the impress of these early labors; and although very devoted to the profession he afterwards chose, he was an enthusiast in farming, and in all its improvements, to the last days of his life.

When a young man, his health became feeble, and he was advised to seek a liberal education. He accordingly commenced his studies at Westford Academy, under the tuition of the late Professor Hedge, and entered Harvard College a year and a half in advance. He graduated with honor in 1798, in a class having as its members such men as Stephen Longfellow, Rev. Dr. Channing, and Judge Story. Although the eldest member of his class, he survived all but two of his classmates.

Having adopted the profession of medicine, he studied with Dr. Benjamin Waterhouse, of Cambridge, Professor of Theory and Practice in Harvard University; and subsequently with Dr. Holyoke, of Salem. In 1801 he went to London, passing a year there in attendance upon medical lectures, and devoting himself with great industry to the professional advantages afforded by the medical schools and hospitals. He attended the lectures of Sir Astley Cooper and the younger Cline, and received from them many marks of personal attention. He knew Drs. Lettsom and Jenner, with the latter of whom he enjoyed a special acquaintance. From him he derived much valuable information relating to vaccination, a subject in which he was always greatly interested. His friend and former pupil, Dr. J. P. Batchelder, of New York, says in regard to Dr. Spalding's agency in the introduction of vaccination into the United States: "From his intimacy with Jenner, and knowledge of what had transpired in London during his residence there, in relation to the efficacy of the vaccine matter to prevent small-pox, he on his return engaged most zealously in the practice of vaccination. Perhaps it would not be too much to say that he did more than any man, except Waterhouse, to introduce that important practice into this country."

On his return from England, in 1802, he was the bearer of a letter from Jenner to his former instructor, Dr. Waterhouse, with the celebrated silver snuff-box, containing vaccine, and having on it this inscription: "From the Jenner of the Old World to the Jenner of the New." Dr. Waterhouse had been the first to introduce the great discovery of Jenner into practice in this country, in the face of great opposition.

Soon after his return home, Dr. Spalding commenced practice in his native town, Chelmsford, where he remained four years, securing a large business, and a high reputation as a surgeon.

In 1806 he removed to Amherst, N. H., at that time the principal town in the southern part of the State, where he continued to reside during the remainder of his life. Here he married, in 1806, Rebecca-Wentworth, daughter of Hon. Joshua Atherton, a woman of refined and superior nature. He had eight children, two of whom are physicians.

While living at Chelmsford, he had been called on several occasions to Amherst, and other places in the vicinity. In the adjoining town of Wilton, he had successfully performed trepanning in a case of fractured skull, an operation at that time practically unknown in that region, and which gave him a favorable reputation as a surgeon. His professional calls often compelled him to take long and fatiguing rides through a country poorly supplied with good roads, some of them being mere bridle-paths, in which the use of a carriage was out of the question. Although his constitution was originally feeble, yet, by regularity of life, and a careful abstinence from all injurious indulgences, he was able to perform a large amount of professional labor. His ability to work hard and continuously on a small allowance of sleep was very unusual. It was his habit to sit up until the midnight hours, and to rise before other members of the family began to move.

Sensible of the advantage which would come to the profession and the public from a better acquaintance among medical men than their occasional meetings would afford, Dr. Spalding exerted himself to bring together the regular physicians in his neighborhood, for the purpose of mutual improvement and professional culture. To him, more than to any other man, the Southern District Medical Society of the State owed its existence. This Society was instituted in 1816, and embraced the towns of Hillsborough County, with the adjacent parts of the counties of Rockingham and Cheshire. In the first year of its existence it had on its record the names of fifteen physicians who resided in fourteen neighboring towns, his own name being first on the list. Within three years, its members increased to more than thirty. Dr. Spalding was, for many years, its president and librarian. In 1809 he was elected a fellow of the New Hampshire Medical Society, in which he continued an active member until age and infirmity rendered him exempt. He held the office of vice-president from 1815 to 1821 inclusive; and that of president in 1822 and 1823. In 1817, the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Medicine was conferred on him by Dartmouth College. He was elected an Honorary Member of the New York Academy of Medicine, June 1, 1860.

Favored with an education which, for the times, was superior to that of most of his medical brethren around him, he also possessed many natural qualities fitting him for the profession of his choice. In heart and manners he was a gentleman, with an integrity and purity of character which were never questioned. His equanimity and cheerfulness rarely forsook him. As must be the case in an extensive country practice, it often happened that he was called in cases of emergency, which admitted of no hesitation or delay. He could not easily avail himself of the counsel of learned and experienced men, but he was fertile in resources, and had, in a rare degree, the ability to make a practical application of the fruits of previous study and careful observation. He was calm and self-reliant, and impressed the minds of his patients with the feeling that he comprehended their situation, and that he would do all that a faithful, cautious, and intelligent physician could do.

Dr. Batchelder, of New York, who was one of his first pupils, remarks of him: "If he erred at all in the treatment of disease, it was in trusting too much to the powers of nature, especially if the patient had a good constitution." The experience of half a century in throwing light upon the curative powers of the materia medica, would perhaps recognize, in this feature of his practice, evidence of sagacious observation in advance of his times. He undoubtedly possessed this faculty in an uncommon degree. In a practice extending over so long a period, among a rural population in which changes were comparatively infrequent, he became thoroughly acquainted with the idiosyncrasies of individuals, and their constitutional or hereditary tendencies. It was interesting and instructive to notice how readily he comprehended the condition of patients with whose families he had been familiar through two or three generations.

He had great faith in true science, and genuine contempt of all quackery in medicines or practice. His decision, cheerfulness, and gentleness of manner made him very acceptable in a sick room. The children who had been his patients became very fond of him; indeed, he was a favorite with children generally.

With all Dr. Spalding's habitual caution, he did not hesitate to make a change in received modes of treatment, when he saw sufficient reason for it. This was strikingly proved at the time of the prevalence of spotted fever, many years ago. Hot applications were considered to be the true treatment, but he had warm bricks and blankets removed, and allowed cold water to be taken in moderate quantity. This change proved of great advantage, not only to the patient's comfort, but to his recovery; and this form of treatment was afterward generally adopted.

The genial presence and hopeful spirit of Dr. Spalding made him ever welcome to the sick chamber. His vigor continued so unimpaired through a long series of years, that, at the age of threescore and ten, he performed some surgical operations. In the early part of his professional life, his office was the resort of students, sometimes sufficient in number to form quite a medical class. Many of these went into practice in neighboring towns, and through life they cherished with gratitude the remembrance of his instructions and his influence. Some of these attained distinction in other States, as physicians, surgeons, and professors in medical institutions.

A sketch of Dr. Spalding's life would be incomplete without reference to his social qualities, and the high estimation in which he was held as a citizen and a Christian. His character attracted friendship and confidence. He was cordial in his feelings, and kept alive the glow and warmth of early attachments. He was fond of poetry and music, and could sing quite well. He had a rare gift at story-telling, and his anecdotes never lost their freshness and point. As a citizen, he never sought political office, but he was always relied upon as the friend and supporter of such measures as aimed to promote education, good morals, and the general welfare. His symmetrical and genuine Christian character was illustrated by the fruits of charity and good-will. He made a conscientious and judicious use of his professional opportunities to impress the minds of his patients with the claims of religion, and he was always ready to answer those calls for spiritual guidance and consolation which sometimes appeal to the Christian physician as to no other person.

His church connection was with the Orthodox Congregational denomination, in which he maintained the office of deacon for nearly half a century. He was not a demonstrative Christian, but no one could know him well and not be convinced that religion held in his mind its place as most important of all mortal interests, and the controlling influence of his daily life. He was a constant and appreciative hearer of the gospel, and a studious reader of the Holy Scriptures. He was able to read the Bible until the ninety-fourth year of his age, after which time his faculties declined. A fortnight before his death, he spoke of his long life, of the departure before him, of his early friends, and of the comforting support of a Christian faith. In this faith he closed a long, useful, and honorable life.

He was one of the early settlers of Putney, Vt., the charter of which had been given to Colonel Josiah Willard and others, by Benning Wentworth, Governor of New Hampshire, Dec. 26, 1753. He was an adherent of the jurisdiction of New Hampshire. On the 28th of Oct. 1774, he was committed to the common gaol, for high treason against the British tyrant, George III. All that they proved against him was that he said, "If the king has signed the Quebec bill, it is my opinion that he has broken his coronation oath." But the good people went and opened the prison door and let him go, and did no violence to any man's person or property. [*Slade's Vt. They moved to Northumberland, N. H., from Londonderry, N. H., having one child, Edward. Of the ancestors of Mrs. Spalding we have no knowledge, except that, by her own statement to her children, she was the granddaughter of Mrs. Thomas Dustin, of Indian notoriety. She was a small woman, never exceeding in weight ninety-one pounds, but very robust.

Mr. Spalding cleared up a piece of land, secured his crops, and built a hut or house, and then returned for his family. This dwelling was constructed of four posts set in the ground, in which notches were cut, and to which notches poles were fastened, and then covered with bark and boughs. The fire was built on the ground, the smoke passing out through an opening in the roof. This single room was parlor, kitchen, pantry, and sleeping apartment.

On their way to Coos County, with their scanty furniture, including the little spinning-wheel, they spent the night at Haverhill, N. H. Their little boy, then a year and a half old, while playing around a smudge, made to keep off mosquitoes, was so badly burned that he could go no farther. Mr. Spalding went on alone. In a few days the child was so much improved that his wife started after him, taking a few light articles in a copper teakettle (which is now in the possession of Mr. Savage). The distance was fifty miles; there was no road, and the way was indicated by spotted trees. She went on, sometimes fording streams up to her armpits, and at night she scooped out a bed at the roots of a tree for her child, and, covering it with moss, sat watching by its side, the silence of the night being broken only by the howlings and hootings of wild beasts. Near the close of the second day, she met her husband returning for her.

One of the greatest trials of these settlers was the depredations of the Indians. Mrs. Spalding, by her tact and discernment, obtained their good-will and respect. Although a small woman, her resolution and self-reliance were such that she always commanded obedience. On one occasion, a large Indian warrior, being troublesome and revengeful, put his hands upon her shoulders, intending evil; she stepped back, saying, "You dirty dog, put your hands upon me again if you dare!" The Indian was completely cowed, and sneaked off.

Mrs. Spalding's house was often the resort of the Indians to hold their powows. As it was not safe for a white man to be present on such occasions, she secreted her husband and children away from home. She invariably demanded of the Indians the possession of all their weapons before they commenced their carousal, and retained them until they were sober.

At the opening of the Revolutionary war, the settlers of the town, with those of Lancaster adjoining, concluded, upon consultation, that it was better to give up their new homes, and return to their former places of residence, the Indians being hostile. Mrs. Spalding alone objected. Supposing that she would consent, the others made their arrangements to leave, again appealing to her to accompany them; her answer was "Go, if you have not the courage to stay at our homes" Her determination nerved the whole settlement, and they decided to remain.

At one time one of the family of her son Edward was taken dangerously ill. He went for his mother, twelve miles distant, and found her lying upon the floor before a large fire, unable to move, suffering from rheumatism. She insisted on going, and with difficulty was placed upon the back of a three-years'-old colt, the only horse that could be procured. After riding two or three miles, she brightened up, rearranged her saddle, and said to her son, "I will leave the road behind me," and was soon out of sight.

Mrs. Spalding was noted for her horsemanship. Three days before her death, being then nearly ninety, wishing to go from her grandson's to her son's house, three quarters of a mile distant, she was placed upon a spirited horse, her friends thinking to lead him. She demanded the bridle and a stick, and went off on a gallop.

These incidents show that she was a true descendant of the heroine of Dustin's Island.

This regiment was present at the battle of Bunker Hill, under the command of Col. Reid. The first regiment was also present, under the command of Col. John Stark. "The New Hampshire troops took their position at the rail fence, betwixt the redoubt and the Mystic river. They immediately threw up a sort of breast-work of stones across the beach to the river, and continued the rail fence down the hill to this stone wall or breast-work. This wall served a most excellent purpose, as the sharp-shooters behind it could take the most deadly aim at the advancing foe; and it is a well-established fact that the British troops in front of this wall were almost completely annihilated."

Capt. Levi Spalding was at the battle of Bunker Hill, also at Trenton and at Valley Forge during the terrible suffering in the winter of 1777–78. He was afterwards transferred and came under the immediate command of Gen. Washington He served through the war, and was present at the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown. He received an honorable discharge from the War Department, and drew a captain's pension as long as he lived.

1791; studied law with Judge Adams, of Litchfield, Conn., and settled in Norwich, Conn., as an attorney in 1782.

"He was without patrimony or any special patronage, but by the force of native ability, sound judgment, and integrity, he acquired an extensive law practice, sustained various offices of trust and honor, and by diligence accompanied with strict economy in his domestic affairs, amassed a handsome property. At the time of his death in 1811, he was reckoned one of the richest men in the eastern part of Conn. Yet it was no easy matter to grow rich in the practice of the law. The price for managing a case before the Common Pleas varied only from 6 to 30 shillings, and before the Superior Court from 6 to 54 shillings."

[Hist. of Norwich, Miss F. M. Calkins.]

The following sketch is by his nephew, the Hon. R. P. Spalding, of Cleveland, Ohio: —

"At the time of his settlement in Norwich, he was so poor that it is said he borrowed from Capt. Simeon Huntington, an industrious blacksmith who lived near his office, a sufficient sum of money to enable him to pay for a plain silver watch. For many years he lived in a small house, and under a system of the most rigid economy. So much so, that he is said to have reproved a brother lawyer for his extravagance in giving six cents for an orange, remarking, with emphasis, that 'it was the interest of a dollar for a whole year.'

"He was a sound lawyer, but by no means a polished advocate. It is related of him that, on one occasion, while arguing a question of law before a judge of the Superior Court who liked his dinner better than recitals from 'Coke upon Littleton,' the hour for adjournment at noon having arrived, the judge became impatient, and frequently, but without effect, presented the face of his watch to the advocate to induce him to take his seat. At last the judge in his wrath exclaimed, 'Mr. Spalding, you have talked three quarters of an hour, and have said nothing to the purpose yet.' 'Very well, your honor,' said the imperturbable lawyer, 'I expect to speak three quarters of an hour longer, and before I get through I hope I may say something to the purpose.'

"Unremitting in his attention to business, and scrupulously just in all his dealings, it is not surprising that his services were sought for by parties at a distance. On one occasion he was employed by the Hon. John Hancock, of Boston, to collect a very considerable claim in Connecticut, growing out of a mercantile transaction that had occurred at the first-named place some years before. Payment of the claim was stoutly contested by the party in Connecticut, so much so that, on two several trials, the jury had returned a verdict for defendant; but the subject of our notice, ever tenacious of the rights of his client, and especially so in this instance, where the character of the plaintiff had, to some extent, become involved, procured from the court an order for a third and last trial. He immediately wrote to Boston, and urgently entreated

Governor Hancock to attend court in person, believing the prestige of his presence would favorably influence the jury. At the appointed time, Governor Hancock came in his coach, attended by a retinue of servants, to the place of trial in Connecticut. He was suffering intensely at the time from an attack of the gout, and was borne into the court-house wrapped in flannels. Impressed with a spirit of veneration for his lofty patriotism and long-continued services in the councils of the Confederacy, the judges, as a mark of distinction, invited him to a seat upon the Bench. The trial proceeded in his presence, but the result was no longer adverse or even questionable.

"The jury, with great alacrity, returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the full amount claimed, with interest.

"Mr. Spalding died very suddenly, on the 11th day of August, in the year 1811, at the early age of fifty-four. His only child, a daughter named Maria, the idol of his affections, and a young lady of the highest promise, died two years before him, at the age of twelve. For some years before his death, he had owned and occupied as a residence the spacious mansion in Norwich Town, erected by Governor Samuel Huntington. This house, with its majestic portico and massive pillars, and its surroundings of lofty and umbrageous elms, presented, in 1811, the most imposing appearance of any structure in that ancient town.

"Asa Spalding was, in politics, a democrat of the Jeffersonian school, and for many successive years was the candidate of the democratic party for Governor of Connecticut, without the remotest prospect of an election.

"He left an estate of $150,000, the fruits of his industry, a great sum for those days, to be divided equally between his sister, Mary Cady, and his three brothers, Ebenezer, Rufus, and Luther, all of whom survived him. He was an honest man, and good to the poor. The descendants of Edward of Braintree may well respect his memory."

1190. Dr. Rufus[5] [410] (Ebenezer[4], Edward[3], Benjamin[2], Edward[1]), b. Jan. 8, 1760, in Canterbury, Conn., and in that portion now called Brooklyn; d. Aug. 22, 1830, at Norwich Town, Conn.; m. Lydia Paine, Jan. 10, 1782; she was the daughter of David Paine, Esq., of Canterbury, Conn., and d. Dec. 10, 1834.

Dr. Spalding received a good common-school education, and studied medicine with Dr. Perkins, a physician of some celebrity, at Plainfield, Conn. He commenced the practice of his profession at Mansfield, Conn., but on the 23d of October, 1789, he fixed his residence upon the Island of Martha's Vineyard, in Dukes County, Massachusetts, where he practised physic with great success, until April, 1812, when he returned with his family to the State of Connecticut, and took up his abode at Norwich, in the county of New London, where he lived, greatly respected, until his death, which occurred on the 22d day of August, 1830, at the age of seventy years and seven months.

Doctor Spalding is the individual alluded to in Kendall's Book of Travels, as attending to a multiplicity of avocations at one and the same time, while living on Martha's Vineyard. In the year 1807 he lived at Holmes Hole, where, with a family of nine children, he found it necessary to resort to every means by which he might "turn an honest penny." In addition to the most extensive practice on the island, as a physician, he kept a house of public entertainment, was postmaster, justice of the peace, school director, village librarian, and master of the Lodge of F. & A. M. He was a man of genial temperament, and much given to hospitality. He had an inexhaustible fund of anecdote, and was quick at repartee. His visiting acquaintance was legion.

Few persons have lived their threescore years and ten, who have left so small a number of enemies to rejoice at their departure

His children were well trained and faithfully educated, the eldest son being sent to Yale College, where he graduated in the class of 1817. Nine of them publicly professed Christ.

Three more stately men, or more respected, than the brothers Asa, Rufus, and Luther Spalding, have seldom appeared on the stage of action. They lie near together in the old cemetery at Norwich Town.

He studied law with his brother, Hon. Asa Spalding, and for many years was a highly respectable practitioner in Norwich, Conn. He was at one time a judge of the county court of New London County. At the death of his brother Asa Spalding, he assumed the management of his estate as executor and principal trustee, and attended faithfully to the duties of the trust for a period of twenty years. He was a gentleman of great personal dignity, and was much respected in the circle in which he moved. In the spring of 1812 he moved into the "Huntington House," which he purchased from the heirs of Asa Spalding, where he lived until his death. His oldest son, George, was educated at Yale College, where he graduated in the class of 1818. His second son preferred the career of a tradesman and manufacturer, in which he was singularly successful.

He was a farmer, and passed his whole life in the house in which he was born, in Cornish, N. H. It was situated on the River road, two miles below the bridge which crosses the Connecticut to Windsor, Vt. Having, at one time, been annoyed by a weasel that made many visits to his poultry yard, he determined to shoot it if possible. He found the weasel's home, and not far off lay a gosling and a duck, which had just been killed. When the weasel put his head out of the hole, Mr. Spalding fired; but the nimble creature had found time to run some distance, quite out of the range of the shot. Sanford, the son of Mr. Spalding, exclaimed, "Father! that is not the way to shoot a weasel; let me have the gun." So he took it, the animal, meantime, having gone home again; and, aiming at the hole, he fired; the weasel was just coming out; the shot entered his head, and he was dead in an instant. "Always fire at the spot a quarter of a second before the weasel comes to it; that is the way to shoot a weasel, father." He m. He was graduated at Harvard University, in 1797, and commenced the study of medicine. In 1798, while yet a student, he assisted Professor Nathan Smith in establishing the medical school at Dartmouth College, collected and prepared a chemical apparatus, delivered the first course of lectures on chemistry at the opening of the institution, and published a new nomenclature of chemistry, proposed by Messrs. de Morveau, Lavoisier, Berthollet, and Fourcroy, with additions and improvements. (1799.) His medical studies were afterwards continued at the medical schools of Cambridge and Philadelphia, and he entered upon the practice of medicine at Portsmouth, N. H., in 1799. He devoted much attention to the study of the human structure, was a very skilful anatomist, and his admirable anatomical preparations, particularly of the lymphatics, are now in the cabinets of our first institutions. In 1812, the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the Western District of the State of New York, at Fairfield, Herkimer County, was incorporated. Doctor Spalding being elected president, and professor of anatomy and surgery, made annual visits to this school. In 1813, he removed to the city of New York, and a few years later resigned his position at the college. With Doctor Spalding originated the plan for the formation of the Pharmacopœia of the United States, by the authority of all the medical societies and medical schools in the Union. In January, 1817, he submitted the project to the New York County Medical Society; in February, 1818, it was adopted by the Medical Society of the State of New York, and ordered to be carried into execution by their committee, Doctor Spalding being one of the number. All the medical schools and societies appointed delegates, who at once commenced their labors, and the first edition of the work was published in 1820. To keep pace with the advance of medical science, a new edition is published every ten years. Dr. Spalding was a contributor to the New England Journal of Medicine, the New York Medical Repository, Le Nouveau Journal de Médicin of Paris, and other medical and philosophical journals; and besides several lectures and addresses, he published "Reflections on Fever, and particularly on the Inflammatory Character of Fever" (1817), "Reflections on Yellow Fever Periods" (1819), and "A History of the Introduction and Use of Scutellaria Lateriflora, as a remedy for preventing and curing hydrophobia" (1819).

Doctor Spalding was active in introducing into the United States the practice of vaccination as a preventive of small pox, corresponding with Dr. Edward Jenner for that purpose. He was a trustee of the only free schools which New York then possessed, and aided in the establishment of the first Sunday schools in that city; m. The colony of Conn. claimed, by virtue of its charter, a tract of land in Penn., over 120 miles in length and 60 in breadth. Under this claim, the Susquehanna Company was formed in 1754, at Hartford, and purchased land on the Susquehanna River, of the Indians, and for many years there was a gradual emigration in progress from Conn. Among the emigrants was Simon Spalding, who removed to Wyoming with his family, at an early period of its settlement. His marriage, and the births of his three oldest children, are recorded in Plainfield, Conn. So that we infer he left soon after 1771. He removed from Wyoming with his family, and settled in Sheshequin, Bradford Co., Penn., May 30, 1783. In command of his company, he was with Gen Sullivan in his expedition in 1779; and at that time, as the army passed through Sheshequin valley, he was so impressed with the appearance and location of the place, that he resolved to make it his future residence. He first bought of the Susquehanna Company, under the Connecticut title; and farms were allotted to himself, his sons, and sons-in-law, in the upper part of the valley, extending from the river back to the mountain. He was a large man, of imposing and pleasing appearance. He was a captain in the Revolutionary war, and was commissioned general in the militia, after he removed to Sheshequin. The following is an invitation from Gen. Simon Spalding, to Judge Obadiah Gore and family, to attend the wed-

"He was one of the oldest settlers of Niagara County, with the history of which he has been closely identified for over half a century. For many years, and until the infirmities of age disqualified him for active pursuits, he occupied a leading position in business and politics. He was an earnest Henry Clay whig, and latterly an equally earnest Republican. He had been a witness of our country's progress and prosperity from soon after the Revolution, through the war of 1812, and the late rebellion; had seen Washington, Putnam, Lafayette, and other Revolutionary heroes. In his last moments he was surrounded and tenderly cared for by his sons, F. Spalding, Esq., late collector of customs for Niagara District, Rev. V. Spalding, of Michigan, and his daughter, Mrs. Whitman, of Lewiston, N. Y.

"He was one of the hardy pioneers of western New York, the race of which is very nearly extinct. It is truly said of him that 'he was a kind father, a true friend, hospitable to the stranger, kind to the poor and needy, generous and upright, and just towards all men; we shall not look upon his like again.'

"Mr. Spalding was a favorite with both old and young; and many a time has the writer of this seen the good, kind old man, when nearly fourscore years and ten, stop to say a pleasant word to the children of the village — by whom he was most affectionately and respectfully regarded — when at their sports, and demand in his humorous way, Why they didn't choose him on one side?

"The funeral took place at Lewiston, yesterday, and was largely attended, among those present being several friends and relatives from this city."

Possessed of an unbending integrity and a genial disposition, he became a valuable townsman, and this position he held with increasing respect until his death; he leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his loss."

Dea. Spalding entered the town of Sharon, Vt., on the 16th of September, 1769, and took up his residence on the farm which he occupied at his death, making a period of eighty years. At the time of his settlement there were only seven families in town, and no inhabitants in Royalton, Barnard, or Pomfret. In consequence, his early life was passed amidst the hardships and sufferings incident to pioneers of the wilderness, and had much influence, no doubt, in forming that energy and fearlessness of character for which he was well known. He was a soldier of the Revolution, and drew a pension. His personal history is identified with the history of the place of his residence. He knew it all, and was himself a part. He had twelve children, nine sons and three daughters,— a circle that was unbroken until November, 1847, when he was called to mourn the death of Dr. Jason C. Spalding. That event called together under the paternal roof the whole family, and presented not a faint picture of "olden times." There was seen the beauty and power of religion: the aged father, venerable for his gray hairs, and yet more for his love and fear of God, like a patriarch, stood beside the remains of the departed one, and urged upon the living, with great fervor of spirit, faithfulness in the service of that God in whom he trusted.

Dea. Spalding had been a member of the Congregational church sixty-one years, during forty-two of which he sustained the office of deacon. He loved "the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob." Having become a member very soon after the church was organized, he had been with it through all its seasons of prosperity and adversity, and was prominent among the few upon whom devolved the responsibility of supporting the Gospel. His interest was a growing interest. Whilst old age removed him from the busy and attractive scenes of the world, it did not abate his devotedness to the cause of Christ. For that, there was a growing love; it was the theme of thought and conversation; the Bible was his daily companion; he loved the doctrines of grace; and the church, of which he was an honored member, is a witness to his faithfulness.

1816, aged 55, in Pittsburg, Penn.; other authority says Amity, Washington Co., Penn.

"In youth, he was a soldier in the Revolutionary army, and, leaving it, read law with Judge Zephaniah Swift, of Windham, Conn., but on change of religious views, sought the ministry, and entered the sophomore class at Dartmouth College at the age of twenty-one. Graduating there in 1785, he studied divinity, and became a licentiate of the Windham, Conn., Cong. Association, Oct. 9, 1787; preached eight or ten years, and, being in this time ordained an evangelist, received several offers to settle, that were declined, owing to ill health. In 1795, he was married, and soon after went into business with his brother Josiah, at Cherry Valley, N. Y., but both removed the store to Richfield, N. Y., in 1799. Here they purchased large tracts of land in Pennsylvania and Ohio, to superintend which, Solomon moved to Salem, Ohio, but the war of 1812 deranged their plans and caused great losses. Josiah, then visiting his brother, found him in poor health and low spirits, writing a work of fiction, suggested by the opening of a mound, in which was discovered human bones and some relics indicative of a former civilized race. He entitled his work a 'Manuscript Found,' and in it imagined the fortunes of the extinct people. Josiah left him thus employed. Not long after, probably in 1814, Solomon went to Pittsburg, Penn., where he was followed by Sidney Rigdon, then a printer and afterwards a noted Mormon. He told his employer of Spalding's novel, who borrowed the manuscript, and offered to print it. This was refused, and the author wandered to Amity, the place of his death. His widow returned to New York with the manuscript, and while absent from home, a stranger called on her and desired to examine it, that he might confirm or refute a report current in the West, that it had become the Mormon bible. She permitted him to visit her house and obtain it from a certain chest. He went and reported that he could not find it. Mrs. Spalding never saw it after this. The probability is, that Rigdon copied the work at Pittsburg, and that the stranger purloined the original to avoid a future exposure. The uniform testimony of those who read the work is, that the basis, and in great part, the form thereof, now constitute the Mormon bible. And thus a clergyman was most unwittingly and innocently the medium of a delusion, whose dimensions have become so large, and its impostures so monstrous." [Dartmouth Alumni, p. 32.]

The above facts are embodied in a letter from his brother, given below.

EASTFORD, Jan. 6, 1855.

Rev. Sir: — I received your letter of the 21st of December requesting me to give you a sketch of my brother Solomon's life. I should be pleased to oblige you satisfactorily, but my recollection and faculty of mind is so much impaired with age and infirmity, being within two months of ninety years of age, I can give but a broken narrative. He was born 1761. In the first part of the Revolutionary war he was in the army or at work on the farm. I do not recollect when he commenced study for education at High School, nor how long he continued there, but when he left there he went to study with the celebrated Zephaniah Swift to prepare for the practice of law. How long he studied with him I do not recollect; but before he got through, his mind changed from law to gospel, and he left and went to college; but when I do not recollect. I believe he was in college about three years. He did not study theology at any public school after he left college. When he left college he was out of health, and was so for years. He was approbated to preach as a Congregationalist, and followed that calling a number of years, but never settled, on account of his health, though often urged. In 1795 he married. I went to Cherry Valley and commenced merchandising. I had no wife. He followed soon after with his wife and joined me in partnership. He left the store to my care. He took the charge of an academy and preached occasionally for a while. We continued in Cherry Valley about four years, and then we moved our store sixteen miles, to Richfield. We soon after went into a large speculation in new land in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and after a few years he moved out there with his wife; she never had any children. He sold a large amount of land on credit principally to people in Ohio. The war that broke out with England seriously affected that country. That circumstance, with some other misfortunes that happened, placed us in difficult circumstances. We were under the necessity to make great sacrifices to pay our debts. I went to see my brother, and staid with him some time. I found him unwell, and something low in spirits. He began to compose his novel, which it is conjectured that the Mormons made use of in forming their bible. Indeed, although there was nothing in it of Mormonism or that favored error in any way, yet I am apprehensive that they took pattern from it in forming their delusion. You may find my reason in what follows. In the town where he lived, which I expect is now called Salem, Ohio, there is the appearance of an ancient fort, and near by a large mound, which, when opened, was found to contain human bones. These things give it the appearance of its being inhabited by a civilized people. These appearances furnished a topic of conversation among the people. My brother told me that a young man told him that he had a wonderful dream. He dreamed that he himself (if I recollect right) opened a great mound, where there were human bones. There he found a written history that would answer the inquiry respecting the civilized people that once inhabited that country until they were destroyed by the savages. This story suggested the idea of writing a novel merely for amusement. The title of his novel, I think, was "Historical Novel," or "Manuscript Found." This novel is the history contained in the manuscript found. The author of it he brings from the Old World, but from what nation I do not recollect, I think not a Jew; nor do I recollect how long since, but I think before the Christian Era. He was a man of superior learning suited to that day. He went to sea, lost his point of compass, and finally landed on the American shore, I think near the mouth of the Mississippi River. There he reflects most feelingly on what he suffered, his present condition and future prospects; he likewise makes some lengthy remarks on astronomy and philosophy, which I should think would agree in sentiment and style with very ancient writings. He then started and travelled a great distance through a wilderness country inhabited by savages, until he came to a country where the inhabitants were civilized. cultivated their land, and had a regular form of government which was at war with the savages. There I left him and never saw him nor his writings any more. He soon after moved to Pittsburg, in Pennsylvania, where he lived awhile and then moved farther, to a place where he died. His widow then returned to the State of New York, and lived there awhile and then came to Connecticut. She informed me, if I recollect right, that my brother continued his history of the civilized nation and the progress of the war until the triumph of the savages to the destruction of the civilized government. Likewise she informed me that soon after they arrived at Pittsburg a man followed them, I do not recollect his name, but he was afterwards known to be a leading Mormon, He got into the employment of a printer, and he told the printer about my brother's composition. The printer called and requested the privilege of taking it home to read. He, my brother, let him take it; he kept it some time, and then he urged him, my brother, to let him print it. He, my brother, would not consent, but took it back, and she said that she brought it to New York and put it into a chest where she lived. And at a time when she was from home a stranger called upon her and requested her to let him see the novel that her husband composed. He said that he lived at the West, and it was reported there that it gave rise to Mormonism; if not true he wished to counteract the report. She told him that he might go to the house; it was in a chest, he might take it and examine it. He went to the chest, and I think she told me that he said that he could not find it, but it has never been found since. But what use could they make of it? I never saw the Mormon bible but once, and then only for a minute, no time to examine it. I have but little knowledge of Mormonism; I have been out of the way of it. You, sir, no doubt, have more knowledge, but if I have been rightly informed, there is a striking resemblance between the first start and introduction of the Mormon bible and my brother's novel. They both claimed that the manuscripts from which they pretend they copied were of very ancient date and written by men that came here from the Old World. The Mormon bible was not published until after my brother's death.

Yours respectfully,

Tisbury, on the island of Martha's Vineyard, in the State of Massachusetts. His father belonged to the Connecticut line of the family, and was the great-grandson of Benjamin Spalding, son of the first Edward, who emigrated from Chelmsford, Ms., and settled in Plainfield, Conn, in the latter part of the seventeenth century. His mother was Lydia Paine, daughter of David Paine, Esq., of Canterbury, Conn., and a descendant, in the direct line, from Thomas Paine, who came over from England about the year 1639, and settled in Massachusetts. Elisha Paine, the son of Thomas, was an extensive landholder in the first settlement of the town of Canterbury. Rufus P. Spalding, the subject of this sketch, was pledged, by his father, from his infancy, to one of the learned professions. He was therefore kept at school from the earliest dawn of his understanding. In preparing for college, he was sent successively to the academies at Bridgewater, Ms., Plainfield and Colchester, Conn. In September, 1813, he entered the Freshman class in Yale College, Connecticut, and in 1817 received from that institution the degree of Bachelor of Arts. His diploma was signed by Rev. Jeremiah Day, Doctor Timothy Dwight having died at the end of the first quarter of his senior year.

Upon leaving college, he entered upon the study of the law with the Hon. Zephaniah Swift, Chief-Justice of Connecticut, who lived at Windham, the then seat of justice for Windham County.

After completing his professional studies, he migrated to the State of Ohio, where he became eminent as a lawyer and as a statesman. On the 1st day of October, 1822, he was married to Lucretia A. Swift, daughter of Chief-Justice Swift, of Connecticut.

Having lost his first wife, the subject of our sketch was married, on the 11th day of January, 1859, to Nancy-Sargeant, eldest daughter of Doctor Wm. S. Pierson, of Windsor, Conn. In December, 1841, being, for the second time, a member of the Legislature of his adopted State, Mr. S. was chosen speaker of the House of Representatives, and served in a very acceptable manner during that session, and an adjourned session in 1842.

In the winter of 1848–9 he was elected, by joint vote of the two Houses of the General Assembly, a judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio for the constitutional term of seven years, of which he served, however, but three years. The new constitution, then adopted, reorganized the judiciary, and he declined being a candidate in the popular canvass that followed.

The Hon. Wm. Lawrence, at this time member of Congress from Ohio, and reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Court while Judge Spalding was on the bench, thus speaks of him in a letter written to Prof. Wm. H. Barrows, the publisher of the work entitled "The Fortieth Congress of the U. S."

"The judicial service of Judge Spalding commenced March 7, 1849, and terminated Feb. 1, 1852. He brought to the exalted position the force of a vigorous and cultivated intellect, imbued with a profound knowledge of the law, and enriched with classical attainments of no ordinary character. His opinions will be found in the 18th, 19th, and 20th volumes of Ohio Reports; and it is, at least, no disparagement to others to say, that Judge Spalding has never had a superior on the bench of the State.

"The generous and urbane deportment of the Judge was such that he enjoyed the profound respect and esteem of the bar and all with whom he was associated, as the writer of this has abundant means of knowing."

On retiring from the bench, Judge Spalding resumed the practice of the law in the city of Cleveland, and, as an advocate and counsellor, maintained the highest rank in the State.

In politics, he was an active and devoted member of the Democratic party from the days of Andrew Jackson until the passage of the Fugitive Slave law in 1850, when he threw all his energy and influence into the ranks of the Free-Soil anti-slavery party.

He was a member of the Convention at Pittsburg, Penn., in February, 1852; and it was on his motion that Mr. John P. Hale was nominated for the Presidency. He was again a member of a convention in Pittsburg in 1856, and it was here that the party adopted the name "Republican." He was, the same year, one of the delegates at large, from Ohio, to the National Convention at Philadelphia, which nominated John C. Fremont for President.

In October, 1862, Judge Spalding was chosen a Representative to the 38th Congress of the United States, from the 18th district of Ohio, made up of the counties of Cuyahoga, Summit, and Lake. He continued in Congress six years, having been twice re-elected; so that he participated in the important legislation of the two last years of the war of the Rebellion, and in the exciting work of reconstruction that followed, until the 4th of March, 1869, when he retired, of his own choice, from the public service, very much to the regret of his constituents.

"The determination of Judge Spalding to withdraw from active political life," says the author of a work recently published, entitled, "Cleveland, Past and Present, its Representative Men," "was a matter of surprise and regret to his colleagues in Congress, who had learned to value his sound judgment, ripe scholarship, earnest patriotism, and great legislative ability. It was a positive loss to the people of the Eighteenth Ohio District, for never had the interests of that district been better cared for. To Cleveland especially he proved, in reality, a representative member. The wishes of his constituents were promptly attended to, their interests carefully guarded, and 'no stone was left unturned' in the endeavor to benefit the city and its people. The withdrawal of Judge Spalding from public political life, was a loss to the national councils in which he had achieved distinction, but was a still greater loss to the constituency he represented.

"He has returned to the legal profession, in which he ranks among the brightest lights, and finds in its practice, and in the quiet enjoyment of social and domestic life, a satisfaction which his public career, brilliant as it was, failed to give."

Judge Spalding has, for many years, been a communicant in the Episcopal Church, and one of the vestry of Trinity Church, Cleveland, where he is a constant attendant. Although in his seventy-second year, he is in the full enjoyment of all his faculties, and is the picture of sound health and mental vigor.

Hon. Thaddeus Stevens once remarked to Hon. Benj. Wade, "Spalding is the right bower of intellectual liberty."

He left Ms. for Pittsburg, Penn., in 1815, where he was engaged in a contract on the arsenal at that place. After having built the bridge across the Monongahela River, he moved to Washington, Penn., about the year 1818. He was at one time sheriff of Washington County, Penn. During the time he lived in Washington, he was engaged on heavy contracts on the National road, which was then building (he being a stone-mason by trade). He emigrated to Zanesville, Ohio, in 1827, having been engaged in the building of the road from Wheeling, Va., to that place, where he has left numerous monuments of his skill and energy, having built the whole of the canal around the falls of the Muskingum, and locks connected with it; two wagon bridges and two railroad bridges across the Muskingum River. Having amassed a considerable fortune, and finding no more heavy works to accomplish, he built a large iron furnace in Dresden, Ohio, where, after a long series of misfortunes, he lost all. He sacrificed all his property, and, having paid every debt, to the last dollar, he found himself destitute of everything but his good name. Broken down in health, he died, regretted by all citizens, and especially by the large class of laboring men, to whom, by his untiring energy, he had given labor for so many years. A just, true, and kind man. He m. Susan Brown, Sept. 24, 1816, at Perryville, Penn.; she was b. Oct. 12, 1794, at Tyngsborough, Ms.; she is still living with her son, Albert-Josiah, at Zanesville, Ohio.

2994. SOLOMON-ROBINSON[6] [1304] (Benaiah[5], Joseph[4], Joseph[3], Joseph[2], Edward[1]), b. May 31, 1805, in Putney, Vt.; res. Boston, Ms. He is a merchant in that city, and is at the head of the firm "S. R. Spalding & Sons."

In early boyhood he was constantly occupied upon his father's farm, except two months in summer and three months in winter, when he went to the district school. At the age of fifteen his father placed him under the instruction of the parish minister, thinking to prepare him for college, and subsequently for a professional life. But having become pecuniarily embarrassed by the failure of a local improvement, to which he had lent his credit, the college course for his son was abandoned. Solomon, now sixteen years of age, conceived the idea of seeking his fortune in Boston, but the project seemed to his parents extreme folly. He pressed the matter, and at last gained their consent. The next question was, where to find money to defray his expenses. At that time freight was moved through the country by the old-fashioned baggage wagons, and in front of the Spaldings' house was a steep hill, up which many teams passed daily, frequently requiring extra assistance, and by rendering such, with a pair of oxen, he often received ten or twelve cents for each load. By this means he had now accumulated eight dollars; to this his father added four dollars and a half, making twelve dollars and a half to start with.

With this amount in money, and his clothing all packed in a checked linen handkerchief woven by his mother, he set out on his long journey.

In parting, his mother, taking him by the hand, warned him of his exposure to evil, and besought him, for her sake, to shun every path of vice.

He started alone and on foot; reaching Boston, he secured a boarding-place at a dollar and a half per week, and began looking up employment by going from door to door through the business portions of the city. After many disappointments, he stopped at a store in Broad Street, and asked the usual question, and received the usual answer, no! When near the door going slowly away, one of the partners called him back, and asked what he could do? "Anything you ask me to do" "Will you set the store on fire if I employ you, and request you to do so?" "Yes, sir." "And would you put it out if I told you to?" "Yes, sir." "Well, boy," said he, "you may go to work for me." And here, at six dollars per month, boarding himself, he commenced his business career. When winter came, he had no overcoat, and no money to buy one; so, rather than obtain one on credit, he endured the cold.

At one time, when sweeping the store, he found a ten-cent piece, which he handed his employer, who said, "Why did you not keep it?" "Because it does not belong to me," answered the young man. By this and similar proofs of his integrity, and by his unwearied fidelity, he won the confidence of his employers, and soon bettered his finances.

At the end of three years he obtained a vacation to go home, being able this time to take a seat in the stage-coach.

Soon after returning to Boston, one of his employers died; the other was an indifferent business man, and in time the house failed, and Solomon was thrown out of his situation; but, having made the favorable acquaintance of one of their customers, he was offered the position of bookkeeper and salesman. This gentleman was about to relinquish his country store, and open one in Boston in the hide and leather business. From this time date the circumstances, which, in after life, have so frequently given S. R. Spalding the name of father of the hide and leather trade of Boston.

He continued with this employer for several years, when, in 1832, an older brother having come to the city, they started business on their own account. They unfortunately connected themselves in the shipping business with a Philadelphia partner, who had considerable influence at the United States Bank, then in existence. This man proved a disaster to them; for, loading several vessels with the credit of the firm, he escaped with them to South America, located at Buenos Ayres, and died after years of dissipation, having squandered the substance of his villany.

Mr. Spalding returned to his former business in leather and hides, and gradually established a successful trade between Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Boston. As he travelled often between these cities, by the slow process of journeying then in vogue, he was told by his old-fogy neighbors, that they could not afford to spend so much money in travelling, and he used to reply, "I cannot afford to stay at home."

About 1842, he associated with him another partner, when the firm became Spalding & Bryant. In addition to their Southern business, they engaged extensively in tanning, and soon took the lead in the trade.

In 1847, Mr. Spalding went to Europe for the first time, and was the first in his trade to import hides, leather, and skins, to any large extent.

The same year, Mr. Spalding obtained the charter of the Exchange Bank, now the National Exchange Bank of Boston, and he has been a director in the institution since its organization.

In 1853, with the assistance of several of his early Baltimore friends, he started a line of steamships between Boston, Norfolk, and Baltimore; they have proved a success, and the line is yearly enlarging.

Prior to the Rebellion, the company conferred the honor of naming one of the steamships the "S. R Spalding." This vessel was a transport and flag-ship, doing signal service during the war, and her name became as familiar along the coast as a household word.

Later, he associated with him his two sons, the youngest of whom, Frank, died at Vichy, in France, in 1866, whither he had gone for the restoration of his health. He was a young man of rare qualities and of many friends, and had just arrived at the age to which he had been looking forward as the period when he might take a prominence in business life, after a dozen years of patient study and observation in mercantile usages. His last words on leaving home, were to explain his plans for the future, which he was destined to leave uncompleted.

S. R. Spalding has been one of the Vice-Presidents of the Boston Board of Trade for several years.

He attributes the success which he has enjoyed in business, and in its many collateral offices, to the good advice received on leaving home, and to the strict economy and perseverance of his younger years. By these he has attained wealth and a high social and mercantile position. He m. Ann-Maria Kingsbury, May 23, 1833.

Baptist denomination. He was settled in Belgrade, Me., and preached there and in many other places for about twenty-five years; he was frequently settled as pastor of some church, besides travelling much as an evangelist. After moving to Ohio, he was settled over churches in Liverpool and Brunswick, Ohio, but his health failing, he removed to Cleveland, with his son. There being no church of his persuasion there, he united with a Congregational church. He was a constant writer for the Morning Star, printed at Dover, N. H., and published many sermons. He was a strong advocate of temperance, being one of the first movers in that cause in Maine." [Letter of Mrs. C. A. Yeaton.]

The following notice of Henry Spalding is from the Farmers' Cabinet, a newspaper printed at Amherst, N. H., Dec. 4, 1856: —

"A Veteran. — Mr. Henry Spalding, of Francestown, formerly of the neighboring town of Lyndeborough, now in his ninety-sixth year, rode four miles on the day of the last presidential election, to attend the meeting, and gave his vote to swell the majority in New Hampshire, for 'freedom and Fremont,' So anxious was he to vote, that several days previous to the election, he sent to see that his name was on the check list, saying he should be there; and he kept his word, although the day was an inclement one.

"We understand he voted for Washington, and has voted in each successive presidential campaign since, with the whig party. He is still 'hale and hearty,' never had a sick day in his life, and says he 'never had but two serious complaints, lameness and laziness'; the former, he thinks 'might have been cured, had it been taken in season, but the latter has defied all prescriptions, and he has long since given it up as incurable.'

"Mr. Spalding has ever been a worthy and industrious citizen, highly esteemed by all who knew him, for his many virtues. A large family of children are settled around him, and among them are those whose gray hairs tell of more than threescore years; but the patriarch of the family 'still lives': one of the few survivors of a generation passed away; one of the very few whose heads are whitened by the frosts of nearly a hundred winters. That another four years may deal as gently with him as have the four years past, is the earnest wish of all who know him, and that he may live to see the candidate for whom he voted in 1856, for president, elected in 1860, and that he may help elect him, is the hope of those who voted with him."

He was many times elected representative of the town, when Maine was a part of Massachusetts, and also for a number of years after it became a State. He was chosen county commissioner one or two terms, and for many years was one of the selectmen and a justice of the peace.

From an obituary notice, published in the Gospel Banner, at the time of his death, we extract the following: —

"No man ever lived in the town more respected, venerated and beloved, and none ever died more generally lamented, than Father Spalding. He was prudent and temperate in all his habits. He was honest in principle, pure in mind and motive, and of strict integrity. He possessed a mild and amiable disposition, and was always seeking to make those around him happy. His habitual uprightness, honesty, goodness, and ability secured him the respect and confidence of his fellow-citizens, who many times raised him to the highest honors and offices within their gift. These offices he filled with honor to himself, and with credit and usefulness to his constituents."

He was the son of pious parents, and at the age of sixteen made a profession of religion. He fitted for college at Phillips Academy, Andover; entered Yale, and after one year joined the Sophomore Class in Harvard, where he graduated in 1840. His theological course was at Andover, where he graduated in 1843. He was one of the "Iowa Band" of eleven classmates, who, in the fall of 1843, were commissioned as Home Missionaries for Iowa. He commenced his service at Ottumwa, on the banks of the beautiful Des Moines. Here he expended most of his labors, though thirty other places occasionally heard his voice. He was ordained Nov. 5, 1843; was home missionary in Wapello Co., Iowa, 1843–45, also superintendent of schools; stated supply at Agency City and Ottumwa Iowa, 1845–49; went to Ottumwa in 1849, and was installed pastor of the Ottumwa church in 1851, and continued his relation with that church till 1863, nearly 12 years. Ill health compelled him to resign his charge, and seek a more northern clime. After his dismission from Ottumwa, he proceeded to Eau Claire, in Wisconsin, hoping in that tonic climate to do something more for Christ. There, after laboring about nine months very successfully, he found his physical system was not improving, but rather indicating a decline. He therefore returned to his old

When the Rebellion shut the South from the North, he was caught as a Northern sympathizer, and subjected to constant outrages by day and by night. He was twice robbed, and twice arrested for his Northern proclivities, and his wife, being a Southern woman, was forced by her relatives to elope from him when he was absent, taking with her their little boy and only child. Weary and worn, harassed and bereaved, he lived to see the end of the Rebellion; but died on the first of August, 1865, and was buried on the 2d, his 38th birthday.

5241. Hon. ELBRIDGE-GERRY[7] [2433] (Edward[6], Levi[5], Edward[4], Ebenezer[3], Edward[2], Edward[1]), b. Feb. 24, 1809, at Summer Hill, Cayuga Co., N. Y. He has resided in Buffalo, N. Y., since 1834. He has been mayor of the city, treasurer of the State of New York, a member of the canal board, and six years a member of Congress, serving four years on the committee of Ways and Means; and he was the author of the legal tender act, passed during the late Rebellion.

When about twenty years of age, he commenced the study of the law in the office of Fitch & Dibble, at Batavia, Genesee County, N. Y. He taught school in the winter, and other portions of the year, and also acted as recording clerk in the county clerk's office, during the first two years of his law studies, in order to pay his board and other expenses. In 1832, he entered the law office of Hon. Harvey Putnam, at Attica, in the same county, where he pursued his law studies until admitted to practice in the court of common pleas of Genesee County.

In 1834, he removed to Buffalo, and continued the study and practice of the law in the office of Potter & Babcock. At the May term of the supreme court in 1836, he was admitted to practice law as an attorney of the supreme court of the State of New York, and as a solicitor in the court of chancery; and in 1839, as a counsellor of the supreme court, and in the court of chancery. After his admission to practice as an attorney in the supreme court, he entered into partnership, first with George R. Babcock, and afterwards with Heman B. Potter, and continued to practise law until 1844, when the partnership was dissolved. He afterwards received into partnership the Hon. John Ganson, with whom he continued until 1848. From the time he entered the profession of the law until he retired from it, he was laborious and unremitting in his exertions, and enjoyed an extensive and lucrative practice.

In 1836 he was appointed city clerk of Buffalo, and in 1841 was elected alderman, and served as chairman of the finance committee. In 1847 he was elected mayor of Buffalo, and during his term many important measures were inaugurated. Among these, he took a very active part in the adoption by the State of the Erie and Ohio basins for enlarging the facilities of lake and canal commerce at Buffalo; the organization of the Buffalo Gas Light Company for lighting the city; and the adoption of an extensive system of sewerage. In 1848 he served one term as a member of the New York legislature, and was chairman of the canal committee. In the fall of the same year, he was elected a member of the thirty-first Congress, which assembled in December, 1849. In the long contest for the speaker, he voted on every balloting for Robert C. Winthrop, but owing to some defection among the Whig members, Howell Cobb was finally elected. He was placed on the committee on foreign relations. He opposed the extension of slavery on all occasions; supported the policy of General Taylor for admitting California and New Mexico as free States, and opposed the fugitive slave law and the compromise measures adopted at the very long session in 1850, and which received the approval of Mr. Fillmore after the death of General Taylor.

In 1853 he was elected treasurer of the State of New York, and ex officio a member of the canal board, serving two years from January 1, 1854. During this term he performed important service as a member of the canal board, in adopting the plans and contracting for the work of enlarging the Erie and Oswego canals, involving an expenditure of $9,000,000, which was borrowed on the credit of the State of New York.

He opposed the repeal of the Missouri compromise in 1854; took an active part in organizing the Republican party; was for several years a member of the State central committee; and in 1860 he was an active member of the congressional executive committee in conducting the political campaign which resulted in the election of Abraham Lincoln for president.

In 1858 he was elected to the thirty-sixth Congress, and in 1860 re-elected to the thirty-seventh Congress, and served four years on the important committee of ways and means. He was one of the most active members of this committee during a most eventful period in the history of the country. As chairman of the sub-committee of ways and means, he drafted the national currency bank bill, and originated the legal tender act for the issue of treasury fundable notes to circulate as money, which he introduced in the House of Representatives, December 30, 1861. He advocated it as a war measure, and opened the debate upon it in an exhaustive speech, showing the imperative necessity of the measure to sustain the army and navy.

This speech was the first official exposition of the necessity of the legal tender notes as a war measure, the constitutionality of that measure, and a full statement of the grounds on which it should be supported, in order to provide the means for carrying on the war. It received very general comment from the press, as well as from individuals. The opponents of the measure criticised it in severe terms, but the positions he took in the speech, legally and otherwise, have never been successfully controverted, and it stands to-day as one of the best arguments in favor of legal tender fundable notes, as a war measure, that has ever been presented. It had great influence in carrying the bill through Congress. Nearly all the most important loan laws for carrying on the war originated under the supervision of the sub-committee of ways and means, of which he was chairman. In a letter to him, dated Aug. 3, 1869, Hon. Charles Sumner says: "In all our early financial trials, while the war was most menacing, you held a position of great trust, giving you opportunity and knowledge. The first you used at the time most patriotically, and the second you use now (in preparing a financial history of the war) for the instruction of the country." The history alluded by Mr. Sumner, as having been prepared by Mr. Spalding, was published at Buffalo, N. Y., 1869, entitled, "History of the Legal Tender Paper Money issued during the Great Rebellion."

Mr. Spalding has been engaged in banking since 1852. He organized the Farmers' and Mechanics' National Bank of Buffalo in 1864, and he owns more than three fourths of its stock, and is its president. By industry, frugality, and economy he has accumulated a handsome fortune.

He was educated at the Wesleyan Seminary, Readfield, Me.; studied for the ministry at Newbury, Vt., and was licensed to preach in the Meth. Epis. Church. He was for many years connected with the press. He edited the Western Cataract, a temperance paper, at Buffalo, N. Y.; also the Buffalo Impetus. During the last years of his life he was a resident of New York City, where he d. Dec. 10, 1868, aged 57. He was much interested in gathering materials for a history of the Spalding family, which he proposed to publish in the form of a magazine. These papers, after his death, were purchased by the compiler of this work. They consisted almost entirely of sketches, but, with the exception of the details of his own immediate branch of the Spaldings, these papers added very little to what had already been gathered respecting the genealogy of the family.

5508. Dr. JAMES[7] [2624] (Reuben[6], Reuben[5], Ephraim[4], Edward[3], Benjamin[2], Edward[1]), b. Mar. 20, 1792, in Sharon, Vt.; d. Mar. 15, 1858.

His father, Deacon Reuben Spalding, was one of the early settlers in the State, whose life was not more remarkable for his toils, privation, and energy as a pioneer in a new country, than for his unbending integrity and for the best qualities of the old New England puritanism. James was the third son of twelve children, all of whom reached maturity, and were settled in life with families. At the age of seven years he received a small wound in the knee-joint, which was succeeded by an acute inflammation and suppuration, confining him for more than six months, and attended with extreme suffering. During this sickness Dr. Nathan Smith, of Hanover, was called; the knee had been opened at several different points, but still there was no improvement. This eminent surgeon discovered matter deeply seated in the ham, and made a free incision, after which the limb healed, leaving the knee partially anchylosed, to recover from which required years.

It was while confined that he entertained the idea of becoming a physician and surgeon, probably in consequence of his high estimation of Dr. Smith, which was retained through life. Hence he received from his companions the title of "doctor," and retained it, until by his scientific and literary attainments he became justly entitled to it. His early advantages were limited, having never attended a high school or academy, but still his love of study enabled him to obtain a good common school education, besides storing his mind with much general knowledge. Alone and without instruction, he had acquired that mental discipline which so highly distinguished him in after life. He commenced his medical studies at the age of seventeen, with Dr. Eber Carpenter, of Alstead, N. H., stipulating that the expenses of his education should be defrayed by his practising one year with the doctor after he had graduated. He applied himself with uncommon assiduity to his medical studies, taking at the same time private lessons in Greek and Latin. At the age of twenty, he graduated at the Dartmouth Medical Institution, having heard the lectures from those celebrated teachers, Smith and Perkins.

It may not be improper to remark, that while a student, his opportunities for practice were very extensive. It was then that the spotted fever prevailed so generally throughout New England. This epidemic was truly appalling in Alstead and the neighboring towns. Dr. S. had an opportunity of studying the disease under all its varied aspects, and brought his discriminating mind to the subject with all the candor and close observation of a veteran in the science, and arrived at the same conclusions as to its pathology and treatment, as others who had the best opportunities for observation, and stood the most eminent in the profession. His position was very embarrassing, being called the boy physician, having to meet men renowned in the profession, for whom he entertained an exalted opinion. Modesty would hardly permit him to differ from them, yet he had so carefully studied the epidemic that in most cases his views and treatment were adopted.

After practising two years in Alstead with Dr. Carpenter, he commenced business in Claremont; but having friends in Montpelier, he was induced by their urgent solicitation to remove to that place. Though but a boy, he had seen much practice, and performed many surgical operations, and therefore it required but a short time for him to gain general confidence as a physician, and more especially as a surgeon, which he retained without abatement through life. His fixed purpose seemed to be improvement in his profession, having never engaged in any other business or sought any political preferment. Others may have done more under other circumstances; yet, by his example, integrity, industry, communications for the medical journals, and dissertations before the county and State medical societies, from time to time, it may with propriety be said he added something to the general stock of knowledge in his profession. As a surgeon, Dr. S. was successful above most others. The distinguishing trait of his mind was a sound judgment based upon a careful and discriminating examination of all the evidence which gave to each case its peculiar character. Being well informed in the books and the general principles of his profession, and having an extensive intercourse with his medical brethren, he was well prepared to impart to others the results of his extensive experience. With propriety it may be said he was an original thinker, as was not only manifested in his medical and surgical practice, but in other departments of science.

Few men had occasion to change their opinions, when formed, so seldom, as Dr. Spalding. Others might come to conclusions more readily, but, when his opinions were formed, the evidence upon which they were based was in his own mind; and for this reason he was much sought for in consultations. It was a maxim with him, that there should be no guess-work in his profession, and more especially in surgery. In consultations, due respect was paid to the opinions of his professional brethren, but still he would suffer his judgment to be influenced only as the evidence in the case affected his own mind, never evading responsibility, and always governed by his own independent conclusions.

Dr. S. retained through life the confidence and respect of his professional brethren. From his commencement in practice until his death, he was much engaged in consultations. Though often differing from others in his diagnosis and treatment of disease, yet he succeeded in having the confidence of patient and friends in the attending physician unabated; thus discharging his duty to his patients without injury to the feelings or reputation of any one. It was the settled maxim of his life, that strict integrity was the true and only policy which should govern every man who desires his own interests or that of others, and therefore he never sought to appropriate to himself what justly belonged to them.

For more than forty years he was an active member of the Vermont State Medical Society, and through it he labored to advance the best interests of the profession he so much loved. He thus became acquainted with most of the distinguished physicians of the State, among whom he had many personal friends. In 1819 he was elected secretary, which office he held for over twenty years. In 1842 he was appointed chairman of a committee to draft a petition to the Legislature for a geological survey of the State. He was elected vice-president in 1843, treasurer in 1844, chairman of the committee on the history of the society in 1845. He read a thesis in 1846, "On Nature as manifested in Disease and Health," which was very highly commended. He was elected president in 1846–7–8, and delivered a dissertation on typhus fever in 1848, which was published by vote of the Society. He was elected corresponding secretary in 1850, and librarian in 1854, which office he held until his death. He was also a member of the Board of Fellows of the Vermont Academy of Medicine, besides holding many offices in the State connected with science, literature, temperance, etc. But few men in the country have seen such an amount of disease, and so carefully observed the peculiarities of the various epidemics occurring for nearly half a century; and it is to be regretted that so little is left on record of his extensive observations and experience, both as a physician and a surgeon.

Not only as a professional man would we lament our departed friend, but as a Christian, father, citizen, and philanthropist would we remember him. His life was that of the Good Samaritan, a life of toil, prayer, and sympathy for others. His principles were deeply rooted in the heart, and his faith manifested by his works.

We love to contemplate his character, and hope his mantle will fall on many who will as faithfully devote their lives to the best interests of their fellow-beings, and as highly honor their adopted profession.

H., from which place he went to the Theological Seminary at Andover, Ms., where he graduated in 1834. He preached several Sabbaths in Marlboro', Ms., six months in Troy, N. H., and about four months in Chesterfield, N. H. In 1835, he was invited to preach in Cornish, N. H., and at the end of three months' 'probation,' he was ordained, Oct. 1, 1835. He remained pastor at Cornish nearly thirty years. He was dismissed Feb. 7, 1865, to accept a call from the Congregational church at Weathersfield Centre, Vt., where he was installed, June 28, 1865. He was a man of buoyant feeling, genial manner, and naturally a fine mind. He was a kind pastor and a faithful preacher. His theology was thorough and clear, giving prominence to the doctrines of sin and atonement, yet he was no polemic. His funeral was held at his church in Weathersfield, May 14. His body sleeps in the cemetery at Cornish, N. H., among the people of his first charge."

He is of the firm of Browne & Spalding, jewellers, 568 and 570 Broadway, New York. He was taken by his father at an early age to Illinois. Being bereaved of his mother, he was committed to the kind care of a faithful aunt, Mrs. Ann Baker. In 1856 he went to Chicago, but, during the disastrous winter of 1857, the firm by whom he was employed failed, and he returned home. In June, 1858, with forty dollars of borrowed money, he started for New York City, where he arrived with but twenty-five cents in his pocket. He soon secured a situation, and, unaided pecuniarily, he has gradually worked his way up into an honorable position among the merchants of that great metropolis. H.; thence to Lyndeborough. N. H.; and thence, in April, 1824, to Dunstable, N. H., now called Nashua. This was the year that work was commenced upon the foundations of the factories. And he lived to see the growth of that city, from its beginning to its present sturdy and enterprising maturity. The life of Mr. Spalding was one of great changes and some heavy misfortunes. Mr. Spalding removed from New Ipswich, N. H., to Milton, N. H., in 1800. His father, Capt. Isaac Spalding, was a man of good education for those times, but never possessed a property of more than two thousand dollars. His son therefore had a very limited education, only a few weeks instruction in winter, and was very early thrown upon his own resources.

In 1809, at the age of thirteen, he went to Amherst, N. H., as clerk of Robert Reed, Esq., a leading merchant of that place, with whom he continued seven years.

About 1816, he became a partner of Mr. Reed, and remained in that situation ten years, being also for the greater portion of the time post-master.

In 1826, Mr. Spalding removed to Nashua, where he was a prominent merchant of the then new and thriving village. After twelve years in business, he retired from it to engage in railroad enterprises, chiefly in the Concord Railroad, with which he was connected for some twenty-five years. He was among the first who saw the importance of a railroad connection between the lakes and tide-water, and gave his aid to those enterprises.

He has been a man greatly respected by his own townsmen, and such was the confidence felt in his impartiality, that in the most heated political strifes, he would often be chosen moderator by unanimous consent. He was several times elected selectman, and representative of the town in the Legislature; and after the town became a city, he served in the board of aldermen. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention convened in Concord, Nov. 6, 1850; also a member of the Governor's Council in 1866–7 and 1867–8. He was chosen one of the trustees of the State Asylum for the Insane in 1863, and was elected president of that Board in 1869, succeeding Rev. Charles Burroughs, D. D. He was one of the earliest friends of the Concord Railroad, and its first treasurer; and from its incorporation in 1835 to 1866, he served either as treasurer, director, or president. He was for more than twenty-five years president of the Nashua Bank, a State institution which wound up its affairs in 1869, having never made a bad debt or lost a dollar.

In the late war of the Rebellion, he was appointed Financial Agent of the Government, and assisted in providing the means of our country's success.

His parents removed to Colchester, Conn., soon after his birth. There he fitted for college at "Bacon Academy." He relinquished, however, the idea of a collegiate education, and entered upon the study of medicine, whhich he pursued in part under the instruction of Dr. North, of Hartford, Conn., and subsequently in the medical school at Yale College, from which he received his degree in 1832; he also received the same from the Berkshire Medical School in 1833. He commenced practice in Marlborough, Conn.; thence he removed to East Haddam, Conn., continuing but a short time in each of these places. He came in the spring of 1839, to Enfield, Conn., where he spent the remaining twenty-five years of his life, constantly engaged in the duties of his profession. He was a man of marked energy of character, — a quality which showed itself in the vigorous support he rendered in church and religious matters, no less than in his successful professional life. His two oldest sons are graduates of Williams College.

Nov. 5, received from the Governor of Maine a commission as Major of 19th Me. Vol. Rejoined his regiment Dec. 1, and found a commission awaiting him as Lieut.-Colonel of the regiment. Dec. 2, was mustered as Lieut.-Col. Feb. 5, 1865, to Feb. 10th, participated in the Hatcher's Run Campaign, in command of the regiment; only engaged with the enemy the first day. Mar. 13th to 28th, commanded the 59th Regt. N. Y. Vet. Vols.; relieved upon his own request. Mar. 29th to April 9th, participated in the final campaign. Mar. 29th and 30th, his regiment as skirmishers led the Division, took two lines of the enemy's works, and were stopped by the rebels at the fort near the Crow House; the regiment relieved on the night of the 30th. Mar. 31st, the regiment again advanced as skirmishers, captured the rebel skirmishers, and got within four rods of the fort. April 2d, advanced with the whole line, took the enemy's works, put them to flight, and followed in pursuit. April 7th, the regiment in advance of the corps was attacked by a large force of the enemy at High Bridge, which bridge the enemy had set on fire, and they were trying to put it out. The enemy pressed them hard; they had no chance to fall back, and the men fought like tigers, maintaining their position until support arrived, thus saving the bridge upon which two army corps crossed the Appomattox on that day. The colonel was severely wounded in this engagement, and Lieut.-Col. Spalding ever after had command of the regiment. April 9th, he participated in the general rejoicing of the army upon the surrender of Gen. Lee. The regiment was mustered out at the defences of Washington, May 31, '65; returned to Augusta, Me., where it was finally paid, June 7, '65.

9430. JEDEDIAH, b. Sept. 7, 1797, in Norwich, Vt.; d. May 23, 1863; res. in Williamstown, Johnstown, and Kittley, C. W., Washington Island in St. Lawrence River; from thence to Greece, N. Y., Rochester, Lockport, and Pendleton, N. Y.; from thence to Port Huron, Mich., May 17, 1838; m. Sallie Tallman, Nov. 29, 1821, in Canada West; she d. May 7, 1836, in Pendleton, N. Y., aged 35 yrs. 5 mos. 22 days.

His boyhood was spent with relatives, through whose influence he was placed at the West Point Military Academy, where he remained about six months. On the breaking out of the war of 1812, he left West Point, and without the knowledge of his friends, and only in his sixteenth year, enlisted as a private in the army, where he served during the war. He was one of the heroes of Lundy's Lane, assisted in the reduction of Fort Erie, and participated in various other engagements on the northern frontier. When peace was proclaimed, he settled in Montreal, where he learned the trade of a stone-cutter. After his marriage, in 1821, he removed to Rochester, N. Y., where he established himself as a contractor and builder. He was the contractor for constructing the aqueduct at Rochester, and all the stone bridges on the Erie canal between that city and Lockport. In 1837, he started for Michigan to find a home for himself and six young children. He located in Port Huron, and, in 1840, became the purchaser of the tract of land lying between Sixth and Tenth Streets, known as "Spalding's Addition." Though at that time straitened for means, he persevered until he converted the tract from a wilderness to a garden, and it now forms one of the most attractive portions of that city. In the later years of his life, Mr. Spalding enjoyed an easy competence, but he was long a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, and for the last six years of his life withdrew from business.

He was an ardent democrat of the Jeffersonian stamp, and an uncompromising States' rights man, regarding the inviolability of the State as the only efficient security of the citizen. Though early left fatherless, and only favored with small advantages of education, he left honorable memorials of what a strong mind and an inflexible will can accomplish.

He was the originator of the celebrated "Spalding Brothers' Swiss Bell Ringers." In early life, his parents not wishing him to become a musician, sent him to a popular institution of learning at Francestown, N. H. But they were soon informed that he neglected everything but his violin, upon which he continually practised from morning until night He was consequently taken from the school, and placed under the tuition of Prof. Herman Eckhardt, a graduate of the Leipsic Conservatory, then residing in Boston. Young Spalding lived in the family of his teacher, and received from him careful and thorough instruction, both in the art of violin playing, and in composition; enjoying the privilege of listening to, and being instructed in, the works of the great masters. After being six months with his instructor, he was placed as second violinist in the orchestra at the theatre. Not long subsequently he was made chief of the orchestra, which position he well sustained, being a quick reader and familiar with the score. At the breaking out of the Rebellion in 1861, he was among the first to volunteer, and was for a time band master in the 1st Regt. of Mass. Infantry.

After the war was over, he joined the "Original Swiss Bell Ringers" as "solo violinist," and continued with them five years. He then went to New York, and organized a company of his own, "Spalding's Swiss Bell Ringers," which still exists.

The violin playing of Mr. Spalding is characterised by wonderful execution, taste, sweetness of tone, originality, and pathos. He has sometimes been called "The Ole Bull of America." In rendering the "Carnival de Venice" by Paganini, and in his imitation of the organ, the tones of his violin are said to be sometimes surprising.

APPENDIX FOUR.

GENEALOGY OF THE TOPPANS.*

THE family of Toppan, variously written Topham, Tophan, and Tappan, derive their surname from the village of Topham, in the West Riding of Yorkshire, in which county they resided from a remote period.

That branch from which the American Toppans are descended resided at Linton, where, in 1550, Robert Topham died, leaving a son Thomas, of Arncliffe, near Linton, whose death occurred in 1589, and he was buried in the church of Arncliffe. His son Edward, who wrote his name Toppan, resided at Aiglethorpe in the same neighborhood, and had his pedigree with armorial bearings recorded in the College of Arms. William, the fourth son of Edward, was of Calbridge, where his son Abraham, the subject of our notice, was baptized on the 10th of April, 1606, and after he became of age, removed to Yarmouth, where two of his children were born, his wife, whom he married at Norwich, being Susannah Taylor. In the month of May, 1637, he embarked on board the "Mary Anne" for New England, and took up his residence at Newbury, in October of the same year. A document still preserved in the Public Record Office in London, has the following entry respecting his having taken the oath of allegiance and conformity to the church of England, which was exacted of every one before they were permitted to leave the country: —

"May the 10*th*, 1637. The examination of Abraham Toppan, of Yarmouth, Cooper, aged 31 years, and Susanna, his wife, aged 30 years, with 2 children, Petter and Elizabeth, and one mayd sarvant, Anne Goodin, aged 18 yeares, are desirous to passe to New England to inhabitt."

In October, 1637, Abraham Toppan was in Newbury, as appears by the following extract from the town records: —

"Abraham Toppan being licensed by John Endicott, Esq., to live in this jurisdiction, was received in the town of Newberry, as an inhabitant thereof, and have promised under his hand, to be subject to any lawful order that shall be made by the towne." Oct. 1637, Abraham Toppan.

* All that relates to the Toppans in England, and much relating to them in America, has been furnished by H. G. Somerby, Esq. He has collected a large amount of material in regard to this family, which it is hoped he may put into a permanent form.

Abraham Toppan resided a few rods north of the 1st parish meeting-house in Newbury. He d. Nov. 5, 1672. His widow d. Mar. 20, 1689. The following is a copy of Abraham Toppan's Will:—

In the name of God, Amen.

I Abraham Toppan, of Newbury, in the county of Essex, being through mercie at present in good health, and of sound memory, and understanding, blessed be God, doe make this, my last will and testament, in manner following:

First, I commit my soul both in life and death, in the hands of Almighty God, my most merciful Creator, through the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ, my alone Saviour, and ever blessed Redeemer, through the power and presence of his holy and good spirit, and my body to the earth whence its original was taken, to be decently buried by my executors hereafter named, in hope of a happy resurrection in the great day of the man Christ Jesus, to whom be glory forever, amen. And for the good things of this world, which it hath pleased God to commit to my care and management during my pilgrimage in the present life, I doe as much as in me lieth, give and dispose as followeth:

First, whereas by a certain agreement or covenant in writing, bearing date the 30th of July, 1661, I have granted to my son Peter Toppan, one half or moiety of the home lott consisting of 26 acres of orchard, plowing, and pasture land, with the one half of all my other land, dividend, meadow and marsh in Newbury, aforesaid with the clear half of all the liberties, privileges, and appurtenances to the same belonging with half of the barn and outhouses as in the said covenant is expressed, wherein mention also is made of his having the other half after my own, and my wife's decease in considerations therein provided and performed; yet forasmuch as my son Jacob is shortly by God's permission to enter marriage with Hannah, the daughter of Henry and Jane Sewall, and to live in the house with myself and wife, and that my son Peter is through God's blessings on his labours and the estate he received from me and raised betwixt us, otherwise well provided of housing and otherwise, my full mind and desire is that my son Peter be content to let fall his claime unto the other, the half part of the houses, land, and others the premises before expressed mentioned in the said covenant to the end my son Jacob may inherit the same; and in case my son Peter be willing to answer my desire, I then give and bequeath unto him the sum of £20 payable in 12 months by my son Jacob in corne or neate cattle not exceeding 7 years old, or over, both at price current; but if my son Peter shall refuse to grant my desire herein, then my will and mind is as hereafter expressed.

First, that the legacy of £20, payable unto him by my son Jacob be voyd, and as if it had never been mentioned.

Secondly, that my son Peter shall pay unto my son Jacob his heirs or assigns the full price which the sayd half house, lot, and all other the premises before and in the aforesaid covenant mentioned shall amount unto within £10, as they shall be valued at by indifferent and experienced men with respect to the station, situation, and qualities of the said housing, and lands, and other the premises aforesaid, the appraisers to be appointed by my overseers or the surviver of them, and in case of their decease before that time, the valuation to be made or appraisers to be appointed by Stephen Greenleaf, Sen., and John Webster, Sen., or the surviver of them. Thirdly, my will and mind is that the foresaid payment to my son Jacob to be made within six months after my own and my wife's decease one third part in merchantable wheat sound and well dressed, and one third part in neat cattle not exceeding seven years old, and the sayd wheat, barley and cattle at money rates or prices.

These things I conceive just and equal, having done for my son Peter beyond what I have done or can doe, in proportion for the rest of my children, and some other considerations respecting my son Jacob, who is now to match with one who hath a considerable sum or estate, and the good service by him done for the benefit of my whole family, and more especially in my elder years; and it is my will and mind that in case of non-payment as aforesaid, unto my son Jacob, his heirs and assigns, that the said home lott and all other the premises aforementioned, shall be the proper inheritance of my son Jacob, and Hannah, his wife, and the heirs of their two bodies, lawfully to be begotten betwixt them, their heirs and assigns forever; and for the want of such issue at the desease of my said son Jacob, and Hannah, his wife, I give and bequeath the said home lott and all other the premises aforesaid, unto my sons Abraham, Isaac, and John Toppan, equally to be distributed among them, or the survivers of them, their heirs and assigns forever. Also I give and bequeath unto my son Jacob, my hay-lot at Plum Island, which I purchased of Richard Dummer, sometime the lot of David Wheeler.

Item, I give unto my sons Abraham, Isaac, and John, £10 apiece, and to my son-in-law Samuel Mighill and his wife, to be paid by my son Jacob, in 12 months' time after my decease, and to my grandchildren, Elizabeth £20, and to Peter and Samuel, £10 apiece, payable also in 12 months after my decease, and for the better encouragement of my said son Jacob, and Hannah, his wife, I hereby promise and grant unto my sayd son Jacob, and his wife Hannah, equal use, benefit and advantage of my housing, land, appurtenances and privileges, household goods, and stocks of cattle of all sorts, equal with myself and wife during our lifes, and after our decease the whole, not formerly bequeathed in this, my will, excepting as shall out of my said stock and other estate be by me disposed of in my lifetime unto my other children, not exceeding £75 in the whole, and for the sure performance of this, my last will and testament irrevocable, I do constitute and appoint my beloved wife Susanna, and my son Jacob, my executors, or the surviver of them to be sole executor, and my Christian friends, Archelaus Woodman, Tristian Coffin, overseers thereof, to whom I give 5 shillings apiece, and, in case of any difference arising betwixt my sons Peter and Jacob, or any other of my children respecting this my will, it is my will and mind that it be determined by my overseers before mentioned.

Witness my hand and seal the 20 day of June, 1670.

ABRAHAM TOPPAN.

Signed, sealed and delivered, in presence of Mary Last, Joseph Hills, Henry Sewall.

Also before the signing hereof, it is declared that £50 of the £75 referred to in this my last will, is for my son John, in case he lives to the full age of 21 years, if not, £25 of it I give to Abraham and Isaac, also a feather bed and furniture belonging to my sons after my own and my wife's decease.

HON. CHRISTOPHER S. TOPPAN.

The following sketch is from the Portsmouth Journal, Saturday Oct. 5, 1861 : —

The sudden and unlooked for death of Mr. Toppan has made a profound impression upon our city. He had been faltering for some months, but not enough to arrest general notice, though the fears of his friends had been for some time awakened. He left town a few days ago with Mrs. Toppan, and two of his relatives, for the region of the White Mountains for the benefit of his health. He had been a short time at Gorham, N. H., and on Wednesday evening, having made an arrangement for an excursion on the following day, retired apparently in his usual health, and died in a short time.

Mr. Toppan was born in this city, and was connected with one of the most prominent families in the State. He was the son of the late Hon. Edmund Toppan, for many years one of the most sound and influential members of our State Legislature.

Mr. Toppan in early life received a regular mercantile education in Boston. About the time of his majority he came to this city and became connected in business as a ship-owner and merchant, with his relative, the late Theodore Chase, — one of the most able and successful ship-owners in the country.

As a business man and a merchant, he was sagacious and prudent, avoiding alike the timidity and the recklessness which so often occasion failure. He soon took his place among the most prominent business men of this city; and he has been among the most successful and liberal of our merchants.

He was for nearly forty years a director in some one of our banks, in which position he rendered valuable services. His business education and habits, his caution and sagacity, rendered him a valuable bank director. He has been for a long time one of the Trustees and one of the Investment Committee of the Portsmouth Savings Bank. In this last named institution, so valuable to this city and this neighborhood, Mr. Toppan took a great interest, and the value of his services was commensurate with the interest he felt. He was gratified to witness the beneficent effect of this institution upon the young and upon people of small means; and was untiring in his efforts to make it the source of good to the public.

He was the efficient financial manager of the funds of one or more of our benevolent institutions. He was formerly Mayor of the city, and in effect for several years superintendent and director of our public schools. In all these trusts and positions he exhibited that sagacity, ability, and fidelity which have uniformly marked his life.

In the death of Mr. Toppan, not only the city has sustained a great loss, but almost every benevolent and corporate association will feel this bereavement. Few men in our community enjoyed so entirely the confidence of the public. So far from desiring to attract public notice, he sought to avoid it. He was at as much pains to conceal from the public that kindness of heart and real benevolence which were an ineradicable part of his nature, as many men are to exhibit the appearance of what they do not possess. When any of his acts of benevolence accidentally became known, and few men did more of them, he seemed to be as much annoyed as most men are if detected in a fault. He had a strong religious feeling, which he was at much pains to conceal. His attachments to his family and relatives was as much a necessity of his nature as a duty. His adherence to his friends was as unwavering as his integrity. His fidelity to every trust seemed to be an impulse as well as a principle.

He would have been willing longer to have continued his valuable and acceptable services as Mayor, if he could have served the city without its being known to the public that he was an officer. Our schools. Sunday and secular. our churches, and all institutions to promote the moral, intellectual, and economical interests of our city, found in Mr. Toppan an ardent friend and supporter. He was among our most prominent and valuable citizens, and will live in affectionate respect of his townsmen.

ACT OF THE CITY COUNCIL ON THE DEATH OF EX-MAYOR TOPPAN.

On Thursday evening, Oct. 3d, a joint committee of the City Council, to whom was referred the subject of the decease of Ex-Mayor Toppan, reported the following series of resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth, That we have learned with deep sorrow and regret, the death of our esteemed fellow-citizen, the Hon. Christopher S. Toppan, Ex-Mayor of this City.

Resolved, That we sincerely deplore the loss of the deceased; a loss to his family, and to his fellow-citizens; and that we tender our heartfelt sympathies to his distressed family in their sad bereavement.

Resolved, That the City Government attend his funeral, and that an invitation be extended to the Ex-Mayors of the city to unite with them. Also that the flags of the city be displayed at half-mast on the day.

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to communicate a copy of these resolutions to the afflicted family of the deceased.

A very large concourse of people attended the funeral of Hon. Christopher S. Toppan, on Monday afternoon, at the Stone Church. The services were by Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody, late pastor of the church. They were brief and appropriate. The lodges of Odd Fellows, the City Council, and the train of carriages containing mourners, formed a very solemn and imposing funeral procession. Flags were hoisted at half-mast throughout the city.

Ex-Mayor Toppan. — Our New York correspondent, in a private note accompanying his last letter, thus speaks of the above gentleman: —

"I have seldom been more impressed with the uncertainty of life, than in noticing, in the Journal, the decease of Ex-Mayor Toppan. I often met him, at midsummer, in his accustomed daily walks, and no one then seemed more likely to survive for many years to come. The Shakspearean idea,

"'The evil that men do lives after them,
The good is oft interred with their bones,' finds a reversal in at least one act of Mr. Toppan's. I refer to his benevolence, in devoting his salary, as mayor, to provide, for all future time, a Thanksgiving dinner for the inmates of the almshouse. That annual feast, to which will be called 'the poor, the maimed, the lame and the blind,' while a literal fulfilment of our Saviour's command to all on whom he has bestowed the means of doing good, will perpetuate his memory in a way that should excite others, by deeds of equal kindness, to follow his example.

"It is gratifying to me to know that there is at Portsmouth an overflowing stream of delicate and refined charity, not half of which ever reaches the public ear, that does equal credit to the city, and to those who thus, by sweet experience,

"'Learn the luxury of doing good.'"

[Portsmouth Journal, Saturday, Oct. 20, 1861.]

Town Farm. — On Thanksgiving day, with several others, we visited the almshouse at noon, and had an opportunity of witnessing its general appearance.

There are now in the house 92 inmates. The whole appearance of neatness and good order, in and around the house and in the inmates, reflect much credit on the Superintendent, Mr. Norton, and his worthy wife. We were shown the four tables spread for the Thanksgiving dinner. Two were in the dining-room for males, and two in the female department. The tables were bountifully spread with turkeys, geese, pies, puddings, apples, bread, butter, cheese, pickles, and vegetables, — nice enough for the Mayor and Aldermen of any city. We noticed in each room cards put up conspicuously, with this inscription, —

We bless the memory of
HON. C. S. TOPPAN,
Mayor of Portsmouth, who, in 1857, gave $300 to constitute a perpetual fund to provide annually for the inmates of the Alms-House a Thanksgiving dinner.

APPENDIX FIVE.

GENEALOGY OF THE CHASE FAMILY.

From a genealogical memoir by George B. Chase, Esq.

EXTRACT FROM THE PARISH REGISTER OF CHESHAM BUCKS, ENGLAND, MADE BY H. G. SOMERBY, ESQ.

THOMAS CHASE, of Hundrich, in the Parish of Chesham.

John[2] Chase, of Hundrich, bap. Nov. 30, 1540.
Richard[2] Chase, of Chesham, bap. Aug. 3, 1542.
Agnes[2], bap. Jan. 9, 1551.
William[2], born in reign of Queen Mary.
Christian[2], born in reign of Queen Mary.

RICHARD[2] CHASE, of Chesham, m. Joan Bishop, April 16, 1564. Their children were, —

Robert[3], bap. Sept. 2, 1565.
Henry[3], bap. Aug. 10, 1567.
Lydia[3], bap. Oct. 4, 1573.
Ezekiel[3], bap. April 23, 1576.
Dorcas[3], bap. March 2, 1578.
AQUILA[3], bap. Aug. 14, 1580.
Jason[3], bap. Jan. 13, 1583.
THOMAS[3], bap. July 18, 1585.
Abigail[3], bap. Jan. 12, 1588.
Mordecai[3], bap July 31, 1591.

The discovery of the unique name of Aquila, found nowhere else in England, before or since, in any records of families bearing the name of Chase, was deemed conclusive proof by Mr. Somerby, as it has been since by other distinguished antiquarians, of the identity of the American with the English families. The date of birth coincided with another tradition lingering in some branches of the American family, that Aquila Chase, of Newbury, had called his first son, but the fifth child that was born to him, after his father's name as well as his own, "that Aquila the first was Aquila the second, too." The register at Chesham contains no other mention of Aquila, Thomas, and Mordecai than the record of their births. Of the seven remaining children of Richard Chase, their marriages or deaths, in some cases both, are recorded. This shows that three of the younger sons left Chesham, and lived and died elsewhere.

AQUILA[3] CHASE married ——,* and had

Thomas[4].
Aquila[4], b. 1618.

It is probable that Thomas[4] and Aquila[4] acquired a knowledge of navigation in the employ of Thomas Chase, who in 1626 was part owner of the "John & Francis," and is named in a warrant of letter of marque issued in that year for that vessel, according to the Records of the State Paper Office.

We now come to New England, and give herewith the AMERICAN GENEALOGY.

THOMAS[4] CHASE, one of the original settlers of Hampton, was in New England as early as 1636. In 1639, he was, together with his brother Aquila[4], afterwards of Newbury, one of the original settlers of Hampton, where he died in 1653. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Philbrick. His children were,

I. Thomas[5], born 1643. In 1670 he had a grant of land of 100 acres in Hampton, and was chosen selectman in 1695. He died October 23, 1714, unmarried.
II. Joseph[5], born 1645, was also of Hampton. He was taken prisoner at Dover, in the assault on Major Waldron's house, 27th of June, 1689. He married Dec. 31, 1671, Rachel, daughter of William Partridge, of Salisbury. He died January 12, 1718.
III. Isaac[5], born in 1647. He was sometime of Hampton, but removed to Edgartown, where he died May 9, 1727. He married Mary, daughter of Isaac Perkins, of Hampton
IV. James[5], born in 1649. He married September 2, 1675, Elizabeth Greene.
V. Abraham[5], born August 6, 1652. He "was slaine in ye warres" in 1676, and his estate was divided among his brothers.

AQUILA[4] CHASE, of Newbury, was one of the first settlers or grantees of Hampton, 1639 or '40. He married Anne, daughter of John Wheeler. About the year 1646 he removed to Newbury, and received several grants of land there. He made frequent voyages from Newbury as master. He made his will on the 19th of September, 1670, and died on the 27th of December following. His children were, —

I. Sarah[5].
II. Anne[5], b. July 6, 1647.
III. Priscilla[5], b. March 14, 1649.
IV. Mary[5], b. February 3, 1651.
V. Aquila[5], b. September 6, 1652.
VI. Thomas[5], b. July 25, 1654.
VII. John[5], b. November 2, 1655.
VIII. Elizabeth, b. September 13, 1657.
IX. Ruth[5], b. March 18, 1660.
X. Daniel[5], b. December 9, 1661.
XI. Moses[5], b. December 24. 1663.

* Tradition has handed down the name of Sarah —— as the wife of Aquila[3] Chase of Chesham, and it here conforms to the rule of baptism, curiously general, if not in the great majority of cases absolute, which prevailed among the early colonists, of naming the first-born son after the paternal grandfather, the first-born daughter after the paternal grandmother, the second son after the mother's father, and so on.

His son, the Reverend STEPHEN[7] CHASE, was graduated at Harvard College in 1728, and was ordained at Lynn, now Lynnfield, Nov. 24, 1731. He was resettled over the parish at Newcastle, December 5, 1750, where he died January, 1778. He was distinguished for great scholastic attainments, and enjoyed the repute of being a profound theologian. He married in 1732, Jane, daughter of Colonel Joshua Wingate of Hampton, who, as Captain Wingate, commanded a company at the siege of Louisburg, and died at Hampton in 1769, having filled many offices of trust in the County and Province. The children of Reverend Stephen Chase were, —

He was a gentleman of much literary culture, and was one of the founders of the Portsmouth Athenæum, for which he drew up the constitution and by-laws.

He married Mary, daughter of Joseph Frost, Esquire, of Newcastle, and granddaughter of the Honorable John Frost, who was born at Kittery, March 1, 1683, and who in early life, as an officer in the Royal Navy, commanded a British ship-of-war, and was of the Governor's Council in 1727. Hon. John Frost married Mary, daughter of William, and sister of the first Sir William Pepperrell, Baronet. The mother of Mary (Frost) Chase was Margaret, daughter of Samuel Colton, of Springfield.

I. Joseph[9], b. April 22, 1772; m. Margaret Chesley, of Durham.

He became a large ship-owner, and in 1831 removed to Boston, where he died March 13, 1859. He married April 26, 1831, Clarissa Andrews, daughter of Tyler Bigelow, Esq., of Watertown.
